Vote Fairly Heavy

'A Few Straws' For Republicans

WASHINGTON (CP)—Voting was reported moderately heavy in many areas of the United States in today's election of a new Congress, state and local officers. Generally, the weather was good.

In early reports, there were a few straws to boost Republican hopes that their partisans were turning out in a fashion to trump advance Democratic claims of possible unprecedented gains.

Outstate Michigan, much of it traditionally Republican, reported heavy voting, while in Democratic Detroit balloting was running behind 1954 and 1956.

Maryland's early vote was heavier than anticipated. In the past, a big vote has usually worked to the advantage of Republicans in that heavily Democratic state.

HOT FIGHTS

Pre-election estimates were that 48,000,000 voters would cast ballots.

Hot fights in some states over right-to-work proposals helped draw voters to the polls.

The right-to-work proposals bar labor-management contracts which require a worker to join a union to hold his job. In addition to Ohio, such proposals were on the ballot in California, Colorado, Kansas, Idaho and Washington.

In New York, the contest between Democratic Governor Averell Harriman and Republican Nelson Rockefeller for the governorship was pulling out voters in apparently record or near-record numbers.

FIRST RESULTS

As usual, there were a few small polling places which got ballots quickly from all their eligible voters and made their counts.

Waterville, N.H., was first. It gave 15 votes to Wesley Powell, Republican candidate for governor, and six to Bernard L. Boutin, his Democratic opponent. Two years ago, this community cast 13 votes, all Republican.

President Eisenhower was one of those who got in his vote early. He hopped by helicopter from the White House lawn to Gettysburg, Pa., where he is registered as a voter, then returned to Washington.

At stake were 432 of the 435 seats in the United States House of Representatives, where the tenure is two years, and one-third of the Senate's 96-seat lineup. In the state contests 32 governorships were up for renewal.

POPE BLESSES WORLD

250,000 Thunder Ovation As New Pope Receives Crown

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII, the humble son of an Italian farmer, was crowned 262nd Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church today in a ceremony of devout and regal splendor.

A quarter of a million persons massed on the cobble-stoned square of St. Peter's thundered an ovation of "Viva Il Papa" when the three-tiered crown of gold, silver and diamonds was placed upon his head.

The 76-year-old man who was born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli had assumed the full powers of leadership of the world's 500 million Catholics when the college of cardinals elected him as successor to Pope Pius XII.

The four-hour ceremony of crowning the new pope took place on the main balcony of St. Peter's Basilica where Nicola Cardinal Canali placed the golden tiara on his head with these words:

Golden Tiara

"Receive this tiara adorned with three crowns, and know that thou art the father of princes and kings, guide of the world, vicar upon earth of Jesus Christ, our Lord to whom let there be glory and honor without end."

A tremendous roar from the crowd echoed from the seven hills of Rome as the Pope arose and bestowed upon it his blessing, standing under the red velvet and gold-rimmed canopy set up to protect him from rain or sun.

The papal mass, the spiritual heart of the ceremony, was celebrated before the papal altar. The Pope, in a sermon in Latin, stressed the heavy burdens of the pontificate and paid tribute to Pius XII.

He listed the qualities required of a good pastor and said practical abilities and diplomatic skill were not enough without Christian virtue and charity.

"The main precept of divine institution is the evangelistic precept of humility," he said. "... All of you, in all parts of the world, who are pious and fervent, pray for your pontiff."

Feast Day

He noted that his coronation "happily coincided" with the Catholic feast day of St. Charles Borromeo, a 16th-century archbishop of Milan. He said he particularly invoked the protection of St. Charles.

In his burden of restoring the spiritual strength of the church.

The mass ended and with the final blessing the processional began moving toward the balcony. Outside rain began falling and the multitude in the square opened their umbrellas, looking like a vast sea of multi-colored mushrooms sprung up miraculously.

Thunderous applause and the waving of thousands of handkerchiefs greeted the progress of the procession down the aisle and up the long flight of marble stairs to the balcony.

There the big gold-and-jewel-encrusted throne was waiting for the pontiff. Priests and nuns had filled the roof of the Loggia dei Dami on the right-hand colonnade outside.

The cardinals accompanied the Pope to the door of the Basilica and then went to the apostolic palace by elevator. Diplomats and special representatives also went by elevator to the loggia of the dame and the loggia of Charlemagne to watch the coronation. Representing Canada was Jules Leger, ambassador to NATO, and ambassador to Italy Leon Mayrand.

The Pope appeared himself on the central balcony at 12:53 p.m. to a massive surge of applause and the first shouts of "Viva Il Papa!"

250,000 Cheer

The Pope took his place on the elevated throne, looking down on more than a quarter of a million cheering, shouting persons waving handkerchiefs and flags telling where they were from.

Three noble guards flanked the throne.

The ceremonial ostrich plume fans used throughout the ceremony inside the Basilica also appeared, held aloft one on each side of the throne. They symbolically represent cherubs.

The pope sat perfectly motionless, his hands crossed on his chest.

50 STRICKEN IN BIG CRUSH AT VATICAN

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Fifty persons were taken ill in the crush of Romans and tourists who packed St. Peter's Square today to watch the coronation of Pope John XXIII.

Doctors who treated many of them at first aid posts on either side of the vast square said most were suffering from lack of food—they had fasted in order to take holy communion at the end of the coronation ceremonies—or from exhaustion.

tionless, his hands crossed on his chest.

No move was made for the singing of the choir—"A Golden Crown Is Placed Upon His Head"—until one minute before 1 p.m. when Cardinal Canali advanced with the crown.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant intoned the "Our Father," and continued with other special prayers, his French accent showing through the age-old church Latin.

'Accipe Tiaram'

The golden mitre was removed from the Pope's head and Cardinal Canali began the words of the coronation: "Accipe tiaram"—receive this tiara.

With the last word of the formula he placed the heavy triple crown in place.

Army regiments massed on the square presented arms in a misty rain.

There was a moment of silence. Then the great crowd burst into roars, only to subside as the Pope rose to bestow a blessing "Urbi et orbi"—to the city and the world.

At the moment of blessing, cardinals and bishops gathered on two adjoining balconies and took off their mitres. Those who could in the dense throng dropped to their knees on the wet cobblestones.

The bells of St. Peter's and the hundreds of churches of Rome pealed joyously.

Humble Ending

For all its magnificence, the four-hour ceremony ended on a humble note. The Pontiff returned alone from his triumphant appearance on the balcony to his austere apartments.

Even the flash of jeweled crowns, the rich garments of breath-taking fineness and the processions and coronation pageantry were diffused in the humble sacrifice of the Mass. Pope John said bare-headed at the central altar under the 300-foot dome of St. Peter's.

It was subdued further by the three-worded admonition by an assistant as the Pontiff dropped flax into the flames of a candle: "Sic transit gloria mundi" (thus passes the glory of the world).

Comet Rushes Films To New York for TV

LONDON (UPI)—A Comet jet airliner streaked from London to New York today in an attempt to make television history by delivering film of the papal coronation in time for transmission to U.S. audiences tonight.

The four-engine queen of the British Overseas Airways jet-powered fleet left London airport at 11:07 a.m. (3:07 a.m. PST) and was scheduled to reach New York about 2 p.m. PST.

The Comet carried film taken from television screens in Britain of the coronation ceremonies transmitted across the continent of Europe and the English Channel by Europe's co-axial cable and microwave relay "Eurovision" link. Film showed earlier stages of the ceremonies transmitted from St. Peter's.

Meanwhile in Paris, a Boeing 707, the Comet's giant rival of Pan American in the transatlantic "battle of the jets" stood poised at Le Bour-get airport to whisk film of the final ceremonies and actual coronation to New York in time for viewing later tonight.

Films covering the coronation will be shown Wednesday afternoon on Channels 6 and 2 from 5 to 5:30. It was announced today. Channel 2 will repeat the film again Wednesday night, starting at 11:30, while Channel 6 will cut into it at 11:40, picking up the final 20 minutes.

---CCF Leader

By PETE LOUDON, Times Legislative Reporter

A detailed probe of all forest management licences issued while Robert Sommers was B.C. minister of forests was called for today by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

Speaking on the conviction of Mr. Sommers Saturday on bribery-conspiracy charges, the CCF leader also called on B.C. voters to "throw out" Attorney-General Robert Bonner "and the government which has supported him."

Mr. Strachan said:

"As a public servant, my first concern is to determine the impact of the findings of the court on the forest industry—in the industry which Mr. Sommers directed while he was minister."

"In 1956, while speaking in the legislature, CCF members, pressing for investigation, said if any wrong-doing is discovered, it will then be mandatory upon the government to make a complete review of every forest management licence and every timber contract that had passed through the minister's hands."

According to the Sloan report of 1956, about 10 forest management licences were issued between 1952 and 1955—roughly the period in which Mr. Sommers held cabinet office.

Mr. Strachan said any responsible government must be certain those in control of natural resources receive no special favors.

"When the court case is finally finished, we must then apply ourselves to the examination the CCF has been asking for since 1956," he added.

Committee or Commission Suggested

This could be done, said Mr. Strachan, either by a special committee of the legislature, or by a reinstitution of the royal commission which was arbitrarily dismissed by Mr. Bonner's year ago.

(A royal commission under former chief justice Gordon Sloan was established to enquire into allegations and determine whether bribery or conspiracy was involved with issuance of forest management licences. It was abandoned when court action was begun.)

"Perhaps members of the legislature have been closer to details of this case than the general public and have been more aware of Mr. Bonner's incompetence and bungling," said Mr. Strachan with regard to delays in settling the Sommers case.

"I personally moved a vote of non-confidence in the attorney-general. My opinions have not changed. But I have given up appealing to Mr. Bonner's conscience or code of ethics. He has brought politics in B.C. to a new low."

"I will not appeal any more to Mr. Bonner to resign. I simply expect the people to throw him out at the next election—and the government which has supported him."

Mr. Strachan remarked also on comment by the attorney-general that an obscure point of law exists as to whether Mr. Sommers' seat in the House is automatically vacated by his conviction.

"The ethics of the British parliamentary system make it impossible for Mr. Sommers to continue as an MLA for Rossland-Trail. If perchance there is some obscure point of law which would allow him to keep his seat, Mr. Sommers should resign."

Jury Retiring For Bribe Verdict

See Also Page 3

VANCOUVER—The jury in the Sommers case will retire late this afternoon to determine the guilt or innocence of the various accused on the specific charges of giving and accepting bribes.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson this morning finished his charge on the bribery counts involving the alleged donors of the gifts and loans.

He then continued his charge in reference to seven counts in which Sommers is accused of accepting bribes.

He is expected to wind up this afternoon and give these two final phases of the lengthy case to the jury.

The jury will have to bring in 57 verdicts dealing with separate transactions which the Crown has alleged amounted to giving and taking of bribes.

In his final summing up this morning, the 78th day of the trial, the judge told the jury it is no defence to say that someone else's money was used for bribery if all were involved in the same plot.

He used the example of a king in a medieval castle.

He said that if two courtiers went to the king's cup-bearer and proposed to poison the monarch by pouring a lethal liquid in his cup and the king died, the courtiers could not escape by saying it was the other fellow's poison that did the job.

He re-defined to the jury of nine men and three women his generalization of Monday that their decisions on the conspiracy phase of the case would not influence their decisions on the bribery counts.

Storm Sweeps Northwest, City Gets Inch of Rain

Winds with hurricane gusts of more than 100 miles an hour howled across the Pacific Northwest Monday night, barely missing Victoria and Southern Vancouver Island where gales above the 40-mile mark dumped nearly an inch of rain in six hours.

Peak of the storm was reached in Victoria between 5 and 6 p.m., making driving conditions hazardous and slowing home-bound traffic.

Heaviest gust recorded at the Gonzales Heights weather office was 46 miles per hour at 5 p.m., and by 9 p.m. the winds had hauled around to the west at an average of close to 30 miles per hour.

Greater Victoria escaped serious damage, but in Washington and Oregon the hurricane force winds left in their wake at least one dead and a trail of tumbled trees and power poles.

Gale warnings were lifted from Juan de Fuca Strait water shortly after midnight. Forecast is for a new weather disturbance, with a possibility of new gale warnings late tonight. There will be rain tonight, showers, Wednesday morning in this area.

Gusts up to 160 statute miles an hour were recorded Monday at the exposed Naselle, Ore., air force radar station, which receives the full impact of winds coming up the Columbia River.

The tug Alaska Queen, with a 100-foot dredge in tow, sent out a distress signal while off the Washington coast near the Columbia's mouth. Tug and tow reached sheltered waters at 8 a.m. today.

A freak accident took the life of a teenage girl as she walked in front of the student union building in Tacoma, Wash. The wind blew a tree branch across a power line and a broken wire coiled around Ann Maureen Thomas, 18, of Seattle, electrocuting her.

Highways in Oregon were blocked for a time by fallen trees.

JOHN D. SOUNDS FREEDOM CALL

(See Also, Page 22)

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker tonight urged the Commonwealth—"this miracle of statesmanship"—to lead the free world in the struggle for the minds of men against Communism.

Speaking to a London audience of some 7,000, the globe-circling prime minister said that the Commonwealth must and can meet the challenge. The contribution of the United States has been immense in the war against Communism, he said, but the continent-straddling Commonwealth has the crucial role to play.

"No other institution in the modern world has the same global unity in the things of the spirit and the economic potential to preserve and defend the heritage of freedom," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

Award for St. Laurent

MONTREAL (CP) — With quiet dignity, former prime minister Louis St. Laurent Monday night accepted the human relations award of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

"My contribution has been only a small factor in the results which have been achieved," he said when presented with the award for his contribution to the cause of better understanding among the different groups making up the population of Canada.

National unity and brotherly understanding are important in a nation, he said. The result as now seen in Canada has been due to the efforts of both the English and French-speaking leaders over a long period of time.

Among persons who forwarded messages of tribute to the former Liberal leader were CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell, and Justice Minister Davie Fulton.

CONTRACT DRAFTED TO END STEEL STRIKE

TORONTO (CP) — Union and management today were drafting a contract for 3,077 workers at Hamilton's Steel Company of Canada plant, spelling an end to one of Canada's costliest strikes of the year.

Labor Minister Daley announced an agreement late Monday on the 84th day of the walkout by members of the United Steelworkers of America, C.I.O.

He said only that company and union officials "have agreed to prepare a memorandum of settlement" and that strikers would vote on it at a mass meeting Wednesday.

The agreement was expected to provide for a 26-cent hourly wage increase spread over a three-year contract, retroactive to Aug. 1. There was no indication of what fringe benefits might be added.

In an eye-popping, skin-tight dress of flame colored chiffon, Eartha was one of 500 entertainers taking part in this year's biggest-ever royal command performance.

After the show, the Queen and Prince Philip congratulated Eartha on the performance. "He's all man," said Eartha of the prince. "A very nice man. And witty, too."

PATRICK BIRLEY
seeks higher office

New Reeve For Oak Bay In December

Oak Bay councillor Patrick Birley resigned from council today to become eligible to run for the reeveship which will be vacant due to resignation of Reeve Fred Norris, effective the end of the year.

Any councillor that wants to compete for municipal leadership must resign his seat 21 days before nomination day Dec. 1.

Coun. Birley, an architect, has served five years on Oak Bay council. He ran unsuccessfully for city council in 1957.

Reeve Norris, who has guided the municipality the past five years, is resigning halfway through his two-year term due to "pressure of business."

With the resignation of Coun. Birley, four council seats will now be open. To date there are only three candidates—Harry Gregson, Coun. Ralph Mathews, elected in a recent by-election, and Fred Robinson.

Margaret Jenkins and Bank Street Schools PTA will hold a fashion show and tea at St. Matthias Church, Richmond, Wednesday, Nov. 5, starting at 2:45 p.m.

Police to Hit Teen Hoodlums On Halloween

Halloween hoodlums were lashed by Esquimalt Councillor Vincent Rush at council meeting Monday night.

"It is one day in the year," he said, "when senior vandals can come out and deliberately and wantonly destroy."

"We as a council should pass a bylaw against this sort of thing, it's nothing but an excuse to let off steam."

He told of a gang of "hoodlums", aged 18 and 19, and 15 to 20 strong, who smashed municipal tiles, threw bombs, and fired home-made revolvers.

Municipal engineer John Graeme reported that 30 signs were damaged or stolen and three lights were smashed.

"We should spend more money," said Coun. G. K. Sammon, "and get special police to cope with the problem."

"I'll promise to bring this up before the police commission and the inter-municipal council," said Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

Curbs Studied on Jap Fishing

TOKYO (AP)—The International North Pacific Commission instructed one of its committees today to investigate further whether more restrictions are needed on Japanese salmon fishing.

This was decided at the first closed-door meeting of the fifth annual plenary session represented by the United States, Canada and Japan.

Delegates agreed to hand to the protocol committee for further study the issue concerning the intermingling of salmon of North American and Asian origin, one of the most delicate issues facing the conference.

The United States is reported to want to move farther westward a 175-degree west longitude boundary. Japanese cannot fish east of the boundary.

Poison Gas Charge

Red China Accuses Quemoy Artillery

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist China today accused the Nationalist garrison on Quemoy of firing poison gas at the Chinese mainland.

The Nationalists denied its forces were using gas and in turn accused the Communists of laying the propaganda groundwork to use poison gas themselves.

The Communists claimed the gas attack occurred during Monday's blazing artillery duel during which the Reds pounded Quemoy and its smaller neighbors with 39,162 shells in 18 hours. The firing subsided at midnight and the Quemoy area was reported quiet today—an even-numbered day of the month on which the Communists are pledged not to attack landing areas.

Peiping Radio claimed 14 Communist troops were "affected" by the alleged gas attack and said: "Should the Kuomintang troops dare to continue to use poison gas shells, our troops will reply with severe punitive action."

The broadcast in effect accused the United States of co-operating in the alleged gas attack, declaring it had come after the meeting of State Secretary Dulles with President Chiang Kai-shek and after "the supply of large amounts of ammunition by the United States to the Chiang troops."

Rear-Admiral Liu Hsi-ho, chief Nationalist defence ministry spokesman, declared, "This claim is absolutely groundless."

NO SUCH WEAPONS

"We have no such inhumane weapons in hand and the Americans have not given us such weapons," he said. "We have no intention to use such weapons in any further stage of the struggle of our people."

But he added: "We'll take other measures if the Communists resort to using poison gas." He said the Peiping warning is considered "a very serious indication that the enemy may be paving the way for adopting such inhumane weapons."

were driving to court to face the jury again after their conviction Saturday night on charges of conspiracy. (CP Photo.)

Forest Firm Implicated By One Man Judge Warns

VANCOUVER—Summing up on the last leg of the Sommers trial, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson Monday told the jury the big B.C. Forest Products timber firm—acquitted earlier of conspiracy—would not be implicated in bribery allegations, were it not for the evidence of one man.

He said the jury must carefully examine the evidence of Trevor Daniels, one-time chief financial officer of the firm.

DEAD MAN QUOTED

It was Daniels who testified that Hector Munro, late president of B.C. Forest, told him the firm was to pay $30,000 for a forest management licence.

The jury must decide, said the judge, if Daniels was lying in a spirit of revenge because—as the company claimed—he was fired. He also reminded the jury that Daniels' story had been denied by company officials.

ACCOMPLICE VIEW

In his day-long address to the jury the judge necessarily covered much of the legal ground previously covered in his four-day charge to the jury on conspiracy. He directed them again about reasonable doubt and about the danger of convicting on the uncorroborated evidence of an accomplice. And he said the Crown's chief witness, former Pacific bookkeeper Charles Eversfield, was an accomplice, though the jury did not have to accept his view on this.

The judge referred to his earlier acquittal of Sommers for lack of sufficient evidence, on five charges of accepting bribes. But he said this had no bearing on the guilt or innocence of persons still charged as donors of bribes in those instances.

DANIELS' ROLE

In the case of B.C. Forest the judge said the firm apparently would not be implicated at all except for the evidence of its one-time chief financial officer, Trevor Daniels. It was Daniels who testified that Hector Munro, late president of B.C. Forest, told him the firm was to pay $30,000 for a licence.

The jury, the judge said, must look carefully at Daniels' testimony and decide if he was lying in a spirit of revenge because—as the company claimed—he was fired. He reminded them too that Daniels' story had been denied by company officials.

WAS SCHULTZ AWARE? Dealing with C. D. Schultz, the judge said there was no evidence that Schultz directly bribed Sommers. The evidence was that the money went through Gray and it was a question of whether Schultz was aware of the alleged purpose of the payments he made.

to Gray. Schultz himself said they were legitimate.

He recalled defence cross-examination suggesting some payments were for "campaign funds." But the mere fact the money was to be used for that purpose was no defence. Campaign funds were not sacred if they paid for a corrupt purpose.

WEAKEST LINK

Regarding J. M. Gray, Mr. Justice Wilson said he thought the weakest point in the Crown's case was the question of whether J. M. Gray knew the money he signed through the Evergreen account were for corrupt purposes. Eversfield said J. M. Gray knew, but Eversfield's testimony against this accused was weaker than the general run of his evidence and there was no corroboration for it.

8 MAY SEEK TRAIL SEAT

TRAIL (CP)—There is a possibility eight candidates will seek the Rossland-Trail seat in the legislature if a by-election is called.

Robert Sommers, former minister of lands and forests, convicted of conspiracy to accept bribes, has represented the constituency as a Social Credit member since 1952.

Four Trail and district men, including Mayor Harold E. Elmes of Rossland, announced Monday they would be available for nomination. Four more, including a woman, showed interest.

Flaming Jet Hits Hospital

MANILA (UPI)—A Philippine jet fighter crashed in flames into a suburban hospital today, plowing through two fortunately-empty wards which usually house 80 patients.

First reports said the only victim of the crash was the pilot, Lt. Luis Gatmaitan, who "balled out" of his stricken plane but was killed when his parachute failed to open.

The patients who ordinarily occupy the wards into which the plane crashed were watching a movie in another building when the crash occurred at 4:05 p.m.

Eyewitnesses said the jet's engine was on fire when it dove into the building. It exploded on impact, starting a fire which was brought under control in about 10 minutes.

The Dangerous Game

THE DIEFENBAKER GOVERNMENT has rejected the United States official protest against the new Canadian dumping law. But this, we may be sure, is not the end of the argument.

While the United States is not the only foreign nation angered by our obvious violation of international contract, it is, for Canada's trading purposes, the most important, the market which absorbs about two-thirds of our exports. And for the first time since the contract was signed in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, the United States has threatened officially to retaliate against our policy.

That is, or should be, a daunting threat to any Canadian Government. For if the two neighboring nations which conduct the largest joint volume of trade in the world begin to retaliate against each other, where will that game of beggar-my-neighbor end?

It is all very well for the Diefenbaker Government to say that the trade of North America is heavily balanced against Canada, that we run a huge annual deficit in the American market. It is all very well to say also that the United States, while preserving the letter of GATT, has sometimes violated its spirit.

But the fact remains that in dealing commercially with Canada the United States holds the high cards. This may be a hard and unpalatable fact but it is a fact of life.

The Diefenbaker Government, which talked otherwise in Opposition, has come to realize that there is simply no substitute for our American market—not, at least, while our high production costs and price level exclude us, in the case of many products, from any other market.

Mr. Diefenbaker has repudiated his former thought of directly diverting our business from the United States to overseas markets. The big talk of shifting our exports and imports massively to Britain has been quickly forgotten. Our only significant venture in this field so far is to restrict woollens, Britain's largest export to Canada.

Any Canadian Government must do everything practical to increase our American market and reduce our deficit there. The Diefenbaker Government is certainly entitled, wisely or unwisely, to restrict American imports, by a new tariff agreement, openly negotiated. But it is not practical to do either of these things by a breach of contract with the United States, by the back-door method of the dumping law.

Apart from the sanctity of the contract itself, any breach must not only antagonize the American Government but arm the Congressional protectionists of Washington who are only looking for some excuse to damage our exports.

Moreover, the argument about the dumping act comes at a particularly bad moment when Canada already is renegotiating certain aspects of the GATT agreement. It will impel the United States to drive a hard bargain.

The basis of the present argument, though it sounds complex, is actually simple.

GATT (under which we conduct virtually all our trade) defines dumping as the foreign sale of a product below the price in the country of origin plus transportation charges and customs duties.

Except in most exceptional circumstances that have not arisen here, GATT positively forbids the signatories to value imports arbitrarily for customs purposes.

Yet that is precisely what the Diefenbaker Government proposes to do under its new legislation. Over a wide field the Government will effectively levy what tariff it pleases by fixing the value of imports, estimating their cost of production (which is impossible) and guessing what profit the manufacturer should make on them.

The new law thus transfers the power to make tariffs from Parliament to the Cabinet—the Cabinet which, in opposition, was so alarmed about the rights of Parliament.

That is a matter for Canadians alone to consider. But as Mr. Pearson warned the Government when the matter was first broached, the new law becomes at once a matter for our foreign customers to consider when it breaks the GATT contract.

Now, even before the law is applied, we are hearing the first foreign protests from our largest customer. They will not be the last.

Setting Back the College Plan

VICTORIA'S CAMPAIGN TO win degree-granting status for Victoria College has gained nothing from submission of the plan to the British Columbia Social Credit League convention in Vancouver.

If anything, the Victoria effort has suffered a setback, since the general roundhouse call for more junior colleges throughout British Columbia is the one development which could delay early attainment of higher status here.

The provincial Social Credit League convention seems to have listened with half an ear to the idea of degree status for Victoria College, seems to have seized on the concept that colleges are good things and that British Columbia ought to have them all over the place.

All Force Short of War

WITH ITS SHELLING OF QUEMoy on alternate days, Peiping has developed what has been described as the technique of controlled crisis. For half the days of the week the Nationalist Chinese forces feel the weight of bombardment—it was a particularly severe one on Monday—and the rest of the time they are permitted to bring in supplies of all kinds, even military, unmolested.

No arrangement could more obviously demonstrate Communist Chinese strength or more clearly convey a sense of Mao Tse-tung's control of the situation. The mainland leader can thus inspire fear of his attack and gratitude for his forbearance, depending on which day of the week is considered.

There is a deftness and delicacy about this tactic which Occidentals would find difficult to match. The attack can be intensified at any moment without any basic change in the state of siege, or it can be diminished without any implication that it has been entirely abandoned. Mao Tse-tung thus retains a very useful flexibility in his campaign, with political and military pressure mingled to the best effect.

That effect no doubt will be felt among the watching peoples of Asia as well as among Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's own forces.

The International Ideal

WITHIN THE NEXT FEW days, Rotary International will observe its Rotary Foundation Week.

This is an observance in which the movement takes stock of Rotary fellowships granted to 1,075 young men and women from 65 countries for graduate study in foreign lands during the last 11 years.

The purpose behind the project has been not only to give the recipients of the fellowships a chance to advance their academic training, but to familiarize them with the ways, customs, practices and aspirations of the people with whom they study.

It is another of Rotary's constructive methods of encouraging international understanding.

At this time, when so much misunderstanding exists in the world, the successful method used by the international service club movement to bring people closer together deserves a high measure of praise.

Strangers in the Tower of Babel

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MR. J. DONALD ADAMS, the celebrated literary critic of The New York Times, who toured western Canada and the Northwest States last summer, has returned home with mixed emotions. He sees some sparks of native literature smouldering on the frontier of this country and his own, he is deeply infatuated with our Canadian scenery but he is alarmed about the English language. Well he may be. As I gather from his latest pronouncement, the English language is endangered not only on our frontier but throughout the continent—and not merely from the obvious degeneration of words in common use but from the invention of a series of new languages in uncommon use.

Every group in the diverse North American population is creating its own special dialect until the continent is becoming a stuttering Tower of Babel.

"I DOUBT," says Mr. Adams, "if there was ever a time in which so many variegated groups of people, including hipsters, horseplayers, sociologists, psychoanalysts, educators, mobsters, radio and TV emcees, fashion experts, amateur photographers, physicists, hucksters, teenagers and who knows how many other exclusive segments of our population have insisted upon divorcing themselves from the common tongue and developing a distinctive lingo by which all men may know them."

This is not the fussy complaint of a pedagogue in an ivory tower (Mr.

Adams being, in fact, a towering, outdoor, homespun fellow who managed to talk even my language in a summer camp) but a highly practical analysis of what the United States Supreme Court calls a clear and present danger.

THE danger, of course, is the collapse of human communication in an age when communication has been mechanically perfected but somehow doesn't work. If you doubt it, just eavesdrop on any conversation among any gathering of people in the same profession, trade or age group.

Last night, for example, I found myself among a group of physicians and so far as I was concerned they might as well have been speaking the language of Tibet.

Not long ago I had some commerce with a plumber but as no interpreter was available to translate the plumber's technical terms, I merely approved his project in my basement by sign language and paid the bill (in English).

Or if you overhear a group of teenagers at a coffee bar you find yourself in a foreign country. If you listen to housewives gossiping about new fashions you feel like an Eskimo suddenly introduced into a convention of atomic scientists.

AS Mr. Adams says, we shall soon have to devise a lingua franca, a simple dialect like Chinook, a few primitive words understood by everybody, if we are to do our daily business and live in the same cities.

But Mr. Adams does not mention a much larger problem—the disintegration of language merely represents the disintegration of thought.

The scientists who have learned more in the last twenty years than they learned in the preceding five thousand now live in a world understood by only a handful of men at most.

They cannot explain it in English, they cannot reach, in any language, the world occupied by the rest of us. They may seem to inhabit our familiar world, they eat three meals a day, pay taxes and complain against the government in the daily routine of ordinary men but in fact they occupy another universe. Their inner lives swim through the stars and galaxies of space.

THE same is true of the artists. We look at their pictures, critics denounce or approve them but only an artist, a member of a very small coterie can hope to understand them.

Even in the simpler field of democratic politics, which are supposed to belong to all of us, the divorce is almost complete. The politicians, grappling with problems beyond our reach, talk one language among themselves and another language, a sort of Basic English of platitudes and clichés, in public.

An economist may appear on the streets like any other man and may even give you a tip now and then on the stock market (almost invariably wrong) but among his own kind he not only speaks in a mysterious idiom but thinks with a separate mind.

MR. ADAMS, as dean of American literary pundits, is worried professionally about the future of English. Being also a non-professional philosopher of great depth and breadth, he must also be worried about the future of the whole species, English and non-English, the species which can carry words and thoughts instantly across the world but, talking more and more, knows less and less what it is talking about.

As Our Readers See It

Symphony and Sunday

While on duty in Alberta, I have noted the issue precipitated by the insistence of the Victoria Symphony Society in unlawfully selling tickets for Sunday concerts, as noted in your recent issue.

No attempt to intimidate the president of the symphony society is being made by the Sunday Observance Committee of the Victoria Ministerial Association. The association is within the law and within its rights in protesting this practice, and has won its fight to do so by its continuous high-minded and self-sacrificing work.

Appeal is made to a situation in Vancouver, similar in character, with which the alliance has had no connection. May I say that the Lord's Day Alliance has been assured by leading officials of the Vancouver Symphony Society that they do not endorse paid admissions to Sunday concerts on principle. It is their expressed hope to cease regular Sunday concerts in favor of a more extensive program, when the new auditorium makes adequate accommodation available.

On Sunday cultural events, the Alliance's 1957 report—"The Genuinely Open Sunday," says:

"To the alliance, it is reprehensible that activities praiseworthy in themselves, even on Sundays, should sometimes be presented under conditions which are less than legally correct. Appreciation is all the greater, therefore, for those examples of cultural events being provided on Sundays with more respect for law, that is to say, without admission charge. Organizations which provide some Sunday interest would do well in following their lead. Individuals or groups sponsoring cultural activity should be scrupulous in obeying the law."

If the symphony society may set the law aside, why cannot bodies with less laudable aims to the same? Does it want to start such practices and bring itself down to this lower level, as it must do, if it persists? Does it feel that it has a right for special privilege, for discrimination in its favor?

The whole body of Victoria citizens can conscientiously support the symphony society with undivided interest, only if it adheres voluntarily to high and lawful standards. It would be unfortunate if the backing were lost by an unnecessary and unwise forcing of the issue of commercialization, as the symphony president seems to suggest.

That the alliance appreciates the complexity of this problem appears in the 1956 report—"The Good and Glorious Day":

"It has been suggested that the absence of financial profits might be conceivably employed in permitting symphony orchestras to perform on Sundays because they are not profit-making. Most of them require to be subsidized, and they are kept alive by the sheer love of music. Questions of democratic rights and problems involved in the definition of culture, make revision of the law difficult and dangerous. It will require careful thinking of able and disinterested people to determine an acceptable formula of change... (it would be) well to approve the restraining law until such a formula can be found."

If the symphony helps maintain the law, an appeal to the citizens for financial backing would be eminently justified, and undoubtedly generously supported, not least of all by the Ministerial Association and its Sunday Observance Committee.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"MR. COOLEY GAVE ME HIS MURDER COLLECTION OF STING!"

LONDON REPORT

Grand Opening

THE state opening of Parliament, as the Queen mentioned in her speech from the Throne on Tuesday (Oct. 28), was watched for the first time by many millions of people at home and abroad. Television handed it out lavishly to the world.

How much of the drama survived this translation? It was "Hamlet" with the Prince but without much of the poetry, for the essential poetry of this great ceremony is color.

Confronted with this intricate splendor, formal and predictable in every detail and yet as astonishing as if the lion and the unicorn behind the throne were to start fighting, the reporter quails. He is in danger of finding his ball-point frozen in his hand as though by a medieval enchantment.

Yet it is, after all, Victorian-medieval; so might an art critic feel at some ultra-royal Academy. There is really too much of everything, and it has to be digested too quickly. The eye is all at sea, bedazzled with color, it must catch what it can and get it down in black and white. (So must the television cameras: there is some consolation there.)

As with many sumptuous meals, it is over so quickly, though the build-up is enormous. The Queen was in the Chamber for barely more than fifteen minutes all told. But the hours of waiting, had their own theatrical shape, a prologue of high expectation splendidly stage-managed by tradition. There was time for a long look at Barry's great theatre, built in large measure for just this occasion.

The House of Lords was awake. This was the quarter-hour it lived for. The best that Victorian money could buy, rich and sturdy and yet truly grand, the great Chamber looked a triumph of excess.

Heralds' Menagerie

The bronze barons of Runnymede between the tall windows, who will no doubt outlive countless generations of life peers, looked on the alert: so did the entire menagerie of the College of Heralds which Pugin let loose over the ceiling. And so, with the nervous eagerness of pioneers or of new guests who would like to be asked again, did the men behind the cameras in the gallery.

The first peers must have arrived while half London was still having breakfast. Gorgeous early birds, they huddled patiently on their red roosts. By 9.30 there were already more than enough to provide a rousing debate.

The mosaic rapidly fitted itself together, color crowded on color.

Forgotten, in all this robed splendor, were those worried little workaday stories of peers unable to lay out the hundreds of pounds for their finery and queuing up at the hirs' or putting urgent smells in the "wanted" columns.

They had met the challenge and overcome it; they all looked properly dressed for the occasion. That went, needless to say, for the Baroness Wootton who has been extensively quoted on the subject of robes. The first of the life peeresses to arrive, she took a front bench and was soon responding to a friendly wave from Lady Swanborough.

The new baronesses added an extra relish, a new hue to this colored history which we were all so busy recording in monochrome. The Queen, of course, addressed them impartially as "My Lords."

All Together

Here we all were, democratic sardines in a brilliant tin, grey little pencils scribbling away between the flashing broadsides of tiaras and television cameras. The peers in the centre seats were jammed like pupils in some underprivileged school. The judges, looking from above like a cluster of beehives, crowded back to back as though unable to bear the sight of each other. There were even peers sitting on the floor in the gangways.

The lights dimmed and rose again, and the Queen was handed in to the chamber by the Duke of Edinburgh, who took his seat on the left of the Throne and below it.

Then there was a powerful theatrical pause. This year Black Rod waited until the Queen was on her Throne before setting off to summon the Commons instead of (as in recent years) saving time by leaving while the royal procession was still approaching.

The Commons made a seemly entrance. They are a better-behaved body than they once were. When Queen Victoria opened her first Parliament they thundered in like steeplechasers, racing each other to the Bar, and one of the members for Sheffield dislocated his shoulder.

Nothing like that happened on Tuesday. One expected slings and arrows but not slings and bandages during the subsequent debate on the Address, and there were none.

What was the morning's impact on all those millions of homes? Could the viewers' imagination paint the colors in?

Symbolic Competition

Seeing great officers of state walking backwards, did they get a sense of an elaborate film being run very slowly in reverse? Or was there a feeling of symbolic completion in the sight of the Queen with her Lords of Parliament, and the dutiful Commons at the Bar?

A magnificent masque and indeed a meaningful one—but the meaning would certainly need to be explained.

As a spectacle it was magnificent, and the viewer, better even than the privileged in the Chamber, could witness it from beginning to end. It must, all the same, have aroused some conflicting emotions. As a spectacle it was outstanding; as politics or government it was irrelevant.

The Imperial State Crown, the Cap of Maintenance, the Sword of State, the Heralds, the Lord Great Chamberlain, and Earl Marshals make up a beautiful charade, but if all were swept away tomorrow it would not make the slightest difference to the country's government. Not that they need be swept away; they are harmless relics—harmless, that is, so long as nobody mistakes them for anything significant.

Jack's Winning Talents Give Quakers Big Boost

NEW REARGUARD ON WAY AS CATS AWAIT QUAKERS

Coach Pat Egan may have gained ground in his struggle to obtain players who will help Victoria Cougars in the Western Hockey League wars. Egan announced Monday night that he had acquired Ted Harris from the Springfield Indians of the American League and that the youthful defenceman will start working out with the Cougars Thursday.

Little is known here of Harris' ability, but he comes highly recommended by Springfield owner Eddie Shore and may make his first start for the Cats Saturday against Vancouver.

Egan said he would make no lineup changes for Wednesday's game against Saskatoon Quakers at Memorial Arena, which means that Jim Hay and Frank Milne will be on the sidelines.

Peace at Oxford As Rebels Relent

OXFORD, Eng. (AP) — American-led rowing rebels at Oxford University rejoined the official fold Monday, ending the biggest row in a century of rowing at the university.

Ronald Howard, president of the Oxford crew and responsible for forming the eight to take on Cambridge University in March, announced: "The oarsmen who formed what has been called a 'private crew' to train independently have now abandoned their plans and offered me their services."

New Yorker Reed Rubin, the six-foot four-inch, 200-pound former Yale oarsman, who led the rebels, commented: "I can say this: Oxford will beat Cambridge next year."

That's all Rubin would say about the controversy that rocked British rowing to its foundations.

WRONG TECHNIQUE
Rubin started the dispute by disagreeing openly with Oxford's rowing techniques, and training methods.

Twelve days ago, the rebels, including some of the best rowers at Oxford, announced they had ordered a new boat "to be paid for by friends of Oxford rowing."

It was left to Howard to make the only public statement Monday.

"I have not yet decided whether they will be required to row in trial eights, but their past action will not be held against them. They will be considered for their positions on merit."

The 105th rowing of the Oxford-Cambridge race is over a four-mile, 400-yard River Thames course. Oxford has won the event only six times since 1913. Altogether, Cambridge has won 58 times and Oxford only 45 times. There was one dead heat—in 1877.

Flyers Blow Early Lead; Salvage Tie

Nanaimo Combines tossed away a three-goal lead in Sunday's Suburban Hockey League games at Nanaimo and went down to a 4-3 defeat at the hands of Duncan Commercials.

In the other game played Sunday, Port Alberni Flyers also blew a three-goal lead, but they came back with their fourth tally late in the final period to salvage a 4-4 deadlock with Courtenay Gladiators.

Flyers deadlocked the count with just over two minutes remaining on the clock.

Edwards, who is assisting Frank Boucher in coaching duties at Saskatoon, will be a marked man when the Quakers open their first Coast Division swing against Victoria Cougars at Memorial Arena Wednesday night.

DANGEROUS SNIPER
In addition to his playmaking ability, the smooth winger is just about the most dangerous sniper in the league. He was second in the goal-scoring race last season, ending up with 44 goals, one behind league-leader Sid Finney of Calgary.

Quakers, who have picked up a few other talented performers this season, have been the surprise club of the league, flashing a balanced squad that could give Edmonton Flyers a bitter battle for Prairie honors.

McLeod is the only Quaker near the top in the current scoring race. He is tied for sixth place with Victoria's Al Nicholson, Eddie Dorohoy of Calgary and Rudy Filion of Seattle, with a total of 12 points.

Setting the pace, as usual, is centre Guyle Fielder of the Totems, who holds a seven-point lead over teammate Bill McFarland with his 23 points.

Never, Never Bother a Lion!

VANCOUVER (CP) — These three youths probably will be more careful who they tangle with next time.

Ed Sharkey, 240-pound line-man with the B.C. Lions, said Monday he was dining at a North Vancouver restaurant Saturday night, following Lion's game against Winnipeg.

When one of a group of three youths threw his coat and hat on the floor.

Then the youth abused him and dared him to make something of it. Sharkey did. He clipped him with the back of his hand, then, holding a second youth under his arm, hurled a counter and pinned the first youth down. The third youth, then landed on Sharkey. Sharkey hit him in the face. That ended the scuffle.

RCMP could find no trace of the youths when they arrived soon afterward.

LONDON (AP) —Radio Moscow said Sunday Spartak defeated Torpedo 1-0 in the football cup final of the Soviet Union. The match was played Sunday in Lenin Stadium in Moscow and extended into overtime.

Monday that some of his Green Bay Packer football players would get the axe—possibly before Sunday's game with Chicago Bears.

Reacting swiftly in the wake of Sunday's humiliating 56-0 defeat at the hands of Baltimore Colts, McLean said: "We've got to cut out some of the bad roots. They're getting to be a problem because they're starting to affect the rest of the team. We know who some of them are and we're going to do something about it."

McLean, in his first year as head coach of the Packers, said seven or eight players on his 35-man squad have "a defeatist attitude." He mentioned no names.

Asked whether he planned to cut some players, McLean, whose Packers have only one victory and a tie to show for six starts, replied: "I wouldn't be at all surprised. I've got to do something about it. That's all there is to it. There's no use going on like this. We were just plain lousy at Baltimore."

THREE NAMED TO ALL-STARS

T-Men Best at Ballot Box

By DOUG PEDEN
NORTH VANCOUVER — Nanaimo Timbermen, runners-up to New Westminster Salmonbellies in the final round of the Western Canada senior lacrosse playoffs, finished in first place in the post-season boxla ballot race.

Timberman picked up three of six places on the first Inter-city Lacrosse League all-star team and the most valuable player award at the league's annual dinner here Monday.

Salmonbellies, who went on to capture the Canadian crown, placed two players on the all-star squad and Victoria Shamrocks, 1957 Mann Cup champions who finished out of the playoffs this year, had one player on the dream team selected by coaches, who were unable to vote for their own players.

Norman "Skip" McKay, versatile Nanaimo defenceman, was named the first winner of the new Commission Trophy, as the league's most valuable player. McKay finished second to Jack Bionda in the league scoring race, but posed out the New Westminster star in the balloting.

Bionda, McKay and Victoria goalie Gordie Johnston were unanimous choices for the all-star squad. Defenceman Arnie Dugan and centre Don Ashbee of Nanaimo and forward Cliff Sepka of the Salmonbellies completed the squad.

Vancouver Pilseners missed out on all-star choices but received some consolation when Gordie Gimpie was named winner of the Maitland Trophy as the player who best combined clean and skillful play and assistance to minor lacrosse.

In awards announced last month, Wayne Pecknold and Pete Black of Pilseners tied for rookie-of-the-year honors and Johnston took the best-goal-keeper award.

Haste Makes Waste, So Lions Will Wait

VANCOUVER (CP) — Directors of the B.C. Lions decided Monday night to postpone until after the Nov. 29 Grey Cup game a decision on a coach to handle the team in the 1959 Western Football Conference schedule.

Club president Harry Spring said the reason for postponing a decision until after the Grey Cup here is that directors feel they should take a close look at all possible candidates and then get the best man.

Spring said: "This is no reflection on Dan Edwards. We are happy with the work he has done since he took over the club two months ago, and he is still a leading contender for the 1959 position."

For the fifth straight year since entering the league in 1954 the Lions finished out of the playoffs this season. Their record of three wins and 13 losses made them tail enders.

The three wins came after B.C. had set a record for straight losses—10. Clem Crowe, who started the season as coach, was fired after three games and was replaced by Edwards, former Lions end.

Edwards' contract does not expire until Nov. 30. Until then, at least, the club's building plans are looked after, Spring said.

Spring said no other coach candidates were mentioned at the meeting. But he added that to date the club has had two applications—one of them presumably Edwards' bid—plus an expression of interest by eight others.

The club president would not divulge any names. The many guessing departments have offered, during the past month, the names of Edwards, Lions' assistant coach Vic Lindskog, Chicago Cardinals' Frank Ivy, Hamilton Tiger-Cats' Jim Trimble, ex-Tiger-Cat Carl Voyles, Sarnia and ex-Saskatchewan coach Frank Elchick, Ab Wilberley of Louisiana State University, Jim Sutherland of Washington State University and Wayne Robinson, line coach with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

VIC MOVES
Lindskog apparently is not a candidate. He moved to California Monday morning, but will continue to scout for the Lions until the end of January.

Edwards, who stands an excellent chance of getting the job, leaves later this week for Texas and a scouting expedition.

Last year Lions directors were almost forced into a hasty decision to keep Crowe and when he was let out earlier this season, they had to honor the remaining portion of his contract.

Reluctance to sign Edwards until all possibilities have been examined may be laid to last year's expensive lesson.

Despite their dismal season, Lions drew a record attendance of more than 185,000 fans, about 4,000 more than last season.

McAvoy Dealt To Cleveland

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Providence Reds of the American Hockey League Monday traded defenceman George McAvoy of Edmonton to Cleveland Barons, completing a deal in which the Reds exchanged two players for defenceman Ed McQueen of Glace Bay, N.S., and an undisclosed amount of cash.

The Reds last week had started the deal by sending defenceman Bob Robertson, a native of Islington, Ont., to the Barons.

McAvoy, 5' 11" and 165 pounds, has been playing with New Westminster of the Western League. He was sent there by the Reds after he had suffered a broken arm last season.

McAvoy, 27, is in his fifth season of professional hockey.

'It's a Title Bout, So Let's Be Fair'

MONTREAL (CP) — Jack Kearns, a veteran fight manager who will be bringing Archie Moore to Montreal in a few weeks, dropped into town Monday to talk about the coming light-heavyweight world title bout, among other things.

Champion Archie will put his title on the line in Montreal Forum Dec. 10 against Yvon Durelle, Canada's tough pride and joy from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., who holds the British Empire title.

First, Kearns wants a "neutral referee" and he dug into some of the most colorful pages of boxing's history to come up with names—Jack Dempsey, Georges Carpentier and Rocky Marciano.

"This is a world championship fight and Archie will be meeting practically a local boy," said Kearns.

DEMPSEY UNLIKELY
"I'm going to meet with the Montreal athletic commission and suggest a neutral referee. I know when I suggest Dempsey I'll be told: 'What the devil are you talking about? You once managed Dempsey.' So then I'll suggest Carpentier, and if they won't go for the great Frenchman, then I'll settle for Marciano."

As if that kind of talk wasn't impressive enough, Kearns switched to money—$150,000 of it.

"I'm telling promoter Eddie Quinn that he should match the winner of the Moore-Durelle fight with Ingemar Johansson of Sweden," Kearns went on.

"Johansson is the hottest thing right now as No. 1 contender for heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson. But neither Johansson nor any other heavyweight is getting anywhere, now in trying to get a fight with Patterson."

"Besides, there are no outstanding light-heavyweights now."

'RESENT REMARKS'

City parks committee Monday decided to investigate a proposal to re-introduce professional baseball to Victoria.

The offer was made by Victoria Ventures Ltd., 817 Fort.

The committee decided to ask the company who its directors were, what its financial standing is and what concrete proposal it is prepared to make.

The Ventures company asked in a letter whether Royal Park would be available for professional baseball.

It sought use of the park even though its application noted "it long ago became obsolete and is certainly no credit to a city the size of Victoria."

"Well they became rather obsolete, didn't they," retorted Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson in a reference to the previous professional team which lost its franchise five years ago, leaving a trail of unpaid bills behind it.

"We're not asking them anything," said Ald. D. J. Proudfoot. "They're asking a favor of us and I resent their remarks about the park."

Committee was told that Royal Athletic Park was in full use by amateur baseball organizations and other sports this year which would have to be cut back if a professional team was given a lease.

Ald. Proudfoot said the Ventures proposal should be studied carefully because a professional baseball team could prove an asset to the city.

City Manager C. C. Wyatt noted that two amateur groups opposed the Ventures application.

However, he said that if the professional team was allowed to play in the park, it should be made responsible for the year-round maintenance of the park at no cost to the city. There also should be assurance that amateur teams could use

WINNIPEG (CP) — Ron Farnfield, 22, former Winnipeg and Toronto junior, will start a five-game stint tonight for Winnipeg Warriors when they play a Western Hockey League game here against Edmonton Flyers.

Farnfield, a 195-pound left winger, played for Winnipeg Monarchs and Toronto Marlboros before going to the Sudbury Wolves' senior club two years ago. He was with St. Boniface Seals' seniors last season while attending the University of Manitoba.

NOISE OF NFL TURNSTILES...

Who Cares for Willy Nilly Football?

WASHINGTON (CP) — If pro football is willy nilly, George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins mused aloud today, then people must like willy nilly football.

Marshall, a pro pioneer and owner of the Redskins, was commenting on a remark by Admiral Tom Hamilton, athletic director at Pitt.

Admiral Hamilton said during the weekend that pros "play a wild game, throwing the ball willy nilly all over the place, with little purpose."

Marshall would not let such an aspersion pass unchallenged.

"After all," he said, "professional football has no taxpayers to support it, with the exception of the citizens who do so voluntarily. Obviously they like the type of game the National Football League plays."

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell spoke the same piece in Philadelphia Monday. Bell was not discussing the willies and nillies but the season's high of 291,000 or so who paid to see the six pro games Sunday.

Bell said the NFL enjoys such large patronage "because we give the public interesting, wide open, clean football."

Sunday's turnout may well be the greatest single day paid attendance in NFL history.

That 291,000 figure (estimated) tops the 270,000-plus who watched games on Oct. 19. The record one-day total was set on Nov. 10, 1957 when 291,541 spectators paid to watch games in Chicago, Cleveland, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

While Bell and Marshall were striking up the band, an angry, disillusioned coach Ray McLean indicated strongly

VIKING VIEWS

By IAN SMITH

At a time when the Victoria College Vikings have yet to win a game, they are scheduled to face what will probably be their toughest senior "A" basketball competition to date.

Saturday night at 9 the Vikings will go onto the floor at Central Junior High School against Vancouver Eilers, generally acknowledged as the toughest team in the mainland league.

Behind the Vikings, who entered senior competition this season after winning the Canadian junior championship last spring, will be a record of three straight losses.

Hardly anybody, it must be admitted, expects the Vikings to win this one.

But coach Bill Garper stated Monday that "if we play good ball, we'll hold our own."

POOR SHOOTING

"We should have been a lot closer Saturday (when his team lost, 57-39, to Vancouver Cloverleafs). But our shooting average was horrible."

"The sooner the team learns that there are certain things you have to do in senior "A" competition, the sooner we'll start improving."

The following week Vikings will play Hillside Dairies, another Vancouver squad.

And, by that time, the Vikings hope to have picked up their first victory of the season.

One Viking team that is winning these days is the College soccer squad.

The team finished second in the Inter-Services League last year, and this time they're shooting for the top spot. Currently they are in the league lead, and they mean to stay right there.

The booters started off their season by beating Royal Roads, 7-0, but lost to Venture, 3-1, in their next game. Then they bounced right back last week to trounce Naval Apprentices, 5-0.

Wednesday they take on Venture again, hoping to reverse the former decision. They have not yet faced the fourth team in the league, Pacific Naval Laboratories.

SCORING HABIT

Stu MacFarland and George Brice have been claiming a good part of the honors for the team's present success. Stu, from his inside forward position, has been making it a habit to score goals while George, as netminder, has been doing his best to stop goals. His two shutouts prove the point.

Fullbacks are John Hicks, Bill Sanderson and Rod Joyce, while halfbacks are Tom Bourne, Gordie McBride, Blair McLean and Robbie Hamilton.

Up front are James Costain, Bernie Sinclair, Bill Gosling, MacFarland, Pat Mulcahy and Brian Cornell.

Coach of the team is Mr. Neil Swainson.

Costain, in addition to his soccer activities, presently has the highest fivepin bowling average in the College—225. In second place is Roger Hollick, who has compiled a 211 mark.

Roger's average includes a 401 game, highest of any Vic College student this year. He bowled seven strikes in a row before sparing a frame, and ended up with nine strikes.

The high game helped Roger to an 816 series.

Derman Hurt In Car Mishap

By ERNIE FEDORUK

An idiotic Halloween prank resulted in injuries to Gorge Vale Golf Club secretary Leo Derman and two passengers when Leo's car plunged over an embankment near Sidney Sunday night.

Leo suffered fractured ribs and his passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Manson, were treated for cuts and bruises at Rest Haven Hospital.

Derman was driving west along the Mills Cross Road towards an intersection where there should have been a stop sign and a checkboard sign indicating a dead end. The signs apparently were removed on Halloween.

Leo, not overly familiar with the road, was unable to stop his car before it went down a 16-foot embankment.

The sign-removers committed a very foolish prank and the injuries could have been more serious than they were.

Leo returns to the hospital Wednesday and all Victoria and District golfers wish Leo a speedy recovery from an operation that had been planned some time ago.

Leo's efforts on behalf of golf in general, and Gorge Vale in particular, have gone unrecognized much too long. The 45-year-old secretary has always been associated with the Gorge, first as a caddy, later as a player and, then as secretary.

Next January, he starts his 10th year as secretary. The lean and energetic Mr. Derman started his caddy chores in the early '30's and became an active club member in 1934, just after he gained his first taste of fairway fame as Victoria's champion caddy.

And, in those days, there were almost as many caddies as there were members.

Leo, despite his many duties (including those of secretary of the Victoria District Association) still finds time to play regularly. As a matter of fact, he's a stamp of consistency. He once enjoyed a national rating of four and now his handicap fluctuates between five and seven.

Bob Morrison of Uplands and Colwood's George (Porky) Andrews, two of the city's better-known golfers, came through in grand fashion Sunday.

Each scored a hole-in-one. Morrison, who has restricted himself to only an occasional round after a long and illustrious competitive career, potted his on the 16th at Uplands.

It was Bob's first in 32 years of playing at Uplands and the fourth of his career. He had completed for two at Oak Bay and one ace at Colwood.

Warner President Of Lawn Bowlers

Dave Warner was elected president of the Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling Club at the club's annual general meeting.

Stan Turner was named to the office of vice-president, H. Dukeman was selected as secretary and Herbert Jones was named treasurer.

Season's activities for the club were concluded last week with the annual dinner and prize-giving ceremonies.

Cameron Popular With Lions' Fans

VANCOUVER (CP)—Import halfback Paul Cameron was named the B.C. Lions' most popular player in a vote of fans. It was announced during Saturday night's Western Football Conference game.

Fullback Bailey was runner-up.

It was the fourth consecutive year that an import has won the most popular player award.

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Nanaimo Clippers came from behind Saturday to tie Chilliwack Flamings 7-7 in the first Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey League game played at the new Coliseum here.

TB Seals Still Vital to Cause Against Disease

The need for donations to finance TB X-ray surveys has not diminished, an official of the B.C. Tuberculosis Society said today.

Douglas Geekie, health educator for the society, addressed a meeting of campaign workers and Soroptimist members Monday night as the service club prepared to launch its eighth annual TB seal campaign Nov. 10.

In charge of the local campaign is Mrs. Alice Kimmut.

Despite the closing of two sanatoria in B.C., a record 1,600 persons were under treatment in the province this year, Mr. Geekie said.

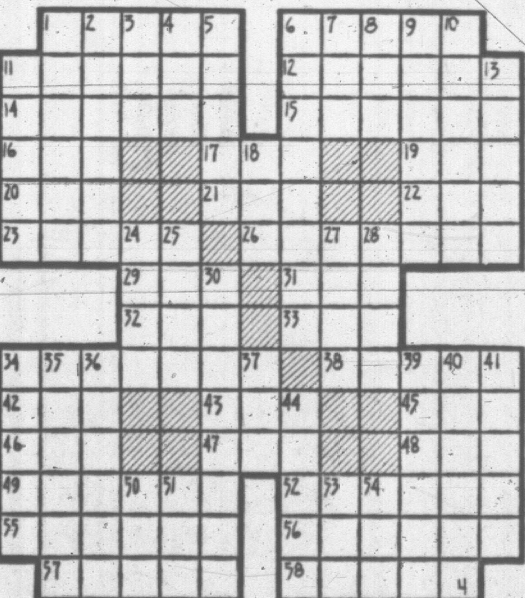

"People ask why the campaign should be continued when two sanatoria have been closed," he said.

"Well they were closed not because of a drop in the incidence of TB, but because of a drop in the time needed for treatment."

"That's a direct result of new drugs and surgery techniques," Mr. Geekie said. "We need fewer beds for the same number of people."

"But the society is very concerned that dropping of the two sanatoria may lead to apathy which might result in four or five active cases walking around and spreading the disease."

He said mass X-rays for early detection and rehabilitation programs for patients, financed by the seal campaign, are urgent requirements in the continuing battle against the disease.

DUNCAN BLAST STILL MYSTERY

An explosion in Duncan on Halloween, described by RCMP as "terrific," has left not a sign of its happening.

"We don't even know where it was," an RCMP official said today. "People living miles apart said it was right outside their back doors. I heard it myself, and I can't locate it."

"Some people have suggested it was an aircraft going through the sound barrier. I doubt that, but on the other hand, we can't find a sign of an explosion anywhere, and no one in the district has reported any damage."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Jeffrey Luzius, age 8, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

How do animals eyes shine in the dark?

Eyeshine is Mother Nature's gift to a few night-prowling animals. It helps them to see in the dim light. On starry nights the eyes of the soft-footed owl glow like embers. So do the eyes of the soft-footed cat. The eyes of certain moths also gleam in the night, as do the eyes of certain night-prowling spiders.

In total darkness, however, there is no eyeshine from these night wanderers. The glowing light we see is a reflection. You cannot spot it unless there is a little moonlight, starlight or a light is flashed. For eyes gifted with eyeshine act as reflectors. They are like those little glassy buttons on highway signs. We do not notice them in the daylight and in pitch darkness we cannot see them at all. They glow, spelling out their messages, when they reflect the headlights of a car.

Eyes gifted with eyeshine have a special layer of reflecting tissue. The retina in a normal eye is a dark screen at the eye's back. Light passes through the pupil and carries an image of the scene onto this retina. Nerves carry the picture to the brain. The light carrying the picture is absorbed by the retina. The shiny layer of tissue behind the retina of the eye gifted with eyeshine bounces some of the light back from this built-in reflector. So, the light makes a double journey through the retina instead of being absorbed as in the normal eye.

Eyeshine Gives Them Double Strength

This means that the nerves carrying the picture get a double dose of light. The darker patches of the image are darker, the lighter patches are lighter. The animal with normal eyes gets a dim, blurry picture when in a dim light. The animal with eyeshine gets a picture twice as bright. A little mouse, wandering around at night, can see hardly at all. The owl and the pussycat can see almost twice as well.

Mother Nature gave certain animals these wonderful eyes to help them hunt at night. However, she evened up the score a bit. She added glowing eyeshine so that their victims could see them and take warning.

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Francis Burke, age 15, of Williamsport, Penn., for the question:

When was the Great Sphinx built?

The eyes of the Great Sphinx at Gizeh have gazed over the Nile for almost 4,600 years. The huge statue was carved for Khafre, Pharaoh of Egypt, about 2,600 B.C. It is 172 feet long and 66 feet tall. It has the body of a lion and its massive bird wings are folded to its sides. Its head and face are supposed to be a portrait of Khafre.

The Great Sphinx was set to guard the tomb of Khafre. This tomb is the second of the three great pyramids which stand in the desert at Gizeh. An altar rests between the paws of the Sphinx. It is believed that this altar was built for a much older temple when the ancient Egyptians paid homage to the sun.

Bonfires on Mt. Tolmie Planned for B.C. Birthday

A plan is underway to light a series of large bonfires atop Mount Tolmie to mark the official date of British Columbia's 100th birthday on Nov. 19.

The plan, suggested by Avis Walton, a member of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group, has the support of the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee under the chairmanship of Geoffrey Edgelow.

Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and other youth groups will be asked to assist in gathering dry and fallen branches on the slopes of the mountain for the bonfires.

It has also been suggested by Ald. Edgelow that a community sing-song be held during the evening.

"We want to make the event a real community affair," said Mrs. Walton. "One of the last centennial events."

GRAND RESPONSE TO GRAND OPERA

Ovation for La Boheme

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON

It is a long time since the sculpture around the Royal Theatre was shaken by such a storm of applause and shouted compliments as followed the final curtain on "La Boheme" Monday night.

Also it is a long time since such a demonstration was so fully justified.

The New York Opera Festival production may, in certain minor details, suffer from typical road company deficiencies, but in every important aspect it is of excellent calibre.

Vocally it could be said to be star-studded. If "star" is taken to mean tops in quality and skill and not merely a name that has been bandied about by press agents.

LA SCALA QUALITY.

In Rudolf Petrak, the company has a leading tenor of La Scala proportions. A resonant, full-bodied bel canto tone that is uniform in production and without a weakness throughout its range. Possibly

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Monday: Edward G. Gillespie, 3821 Epsom, and Olive Margaret Woods, 2839 Cook, $25 each for driving without a licence.

Carmen Lawson-Dobson, 4040 Carey, $10, and Edward Ronald Hlicks, 2186 Oak Bay, $15 for driving through a red light.

In Esquimalt police court Monday:

William A. Wilson, 2773 Victor, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction by failing to drive accompanied by an adult licence-holder.

Ralph Hnetka, 798 Lampson, $35 for careless driving.

Norman C. Woodcock, RCN, was fined $75 in city police court Monday on a charge of driving while his licence was under suspension.

In Oak Bay police court Friday:

George C. Hayhoe, 939 Caledonia, $50 for driving while under suspension.

Harold B. Pearson, Work Point, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

he tends to "let go" a modicum overmuch, but on the other hand he possesses a mezzo voice that is quite exquisite—something which the Lanza-type of singer has little use for.

Petrak is a quite convincing actor and genuine feeling colors the golden tone of his voice. The hauntingly lovely "Che Gelida Manina" was sung with a more moving tenderness than some of the currently great names among tenors can manage to inject into it.

FETTER MIMI.

Josephine Guido was a small, dark Mimi with plenty of warm, soprano tone. This was a lovely voice also, perfectly controlled, brilliantly flexible, sympathetic.

A powerful instrument, Miss Guido used it with discernment and a full appreciation for the many subtleties and delicacies of the role.

As to the rest of the cast of principals, there was no tapering off in quality. Joseph Droghda's baritone, for example, was a rich, sonorous voice of quite exceptional timbre and every solo passage sung by basso Frank Lombardo and baritone Anthony Palmeri was a pleasure to hear.

FIERY MUSSETTA.

Olivia Bonelli not only sang Musetta well but she brought fire, magnetism and a deep sympathy to the role.

During the first act an over-obtrusive orchestra might have swamped less able and powerful singers. Conductor Frank Foti and his musicians however proved their professional facility when, after word had gone backstage, they considerably muted their performance for the latter half of the opera.

Scenery and lighting were good. Tremendous atmosphere was obtained in the garret scene and particularly in the toll gate scene of Act III.

A bad costume on Mimi—both color and design were poor—and the only bit of awkward stage direction and business almost spoiled the death scene but the situation was saved by those glorious voices and sincerity of the acting.

Good ensemble singing, a bright animated chorus (which included some male members of the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society) and generally, capable direction was more than enough to compensate for the obviously budget costumes.

On the basis of all this, tonight's performance of Verdi's "Rigoletto" is a matter for keen anticipation.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Moves Up, Pipelines Recover

Despite lack of leadership from New York, where markets were closed for the U.S. elections, the Toronto stock market was moving upward today.

The holiday in the U.S. also affected the volume, especially among western oils and pipelines.

Industrials, western oils and golds all advanced. Base metals were the only losers as coppers were slightly weaker following a decision by the British government to release some of its stockpile of copper.

Canada's leading producer, International Nickel was hardest hit.

AT MONTREAL prices were irregularly higher in moderate trading today on the stock exchange.

The base metals were generally lower with Nickel off 1/2 at 85 1/2. Hudson Bay gained 1/2 at 57, and Noranda lost 1/2 at 53 1/2.

Up 1/2 in the papers were Abitibi at 36 1/2, Fraser at 31 and Price Bros. at 45. Down 1/2 were Brown at 12 1/2 and Crown Zellerbach at 20.

The steels were higher. Stelco advanced 1/2 at 68. Canadian Iron Foundries gained 1/2 at 36 and Dominion Foundries was up 1/2 at 31 1/2.

AT LONDON a firm tone was maintained on the stock market today with industrials establishing widespread gains.

Gilt-edged securities were higher. Dollar stocks were higher.

South African gold shares and oil issues were erratic.

AT VANCOUVER moderate trading brought little price change during the forenoon.

Tidal Oils sold 11,000 at 97. Basco Oils moved 6,000 at 44. Trans Canada Pipe traded 1,000 at 29 1/2. Pacific Nickel moved 1,500 at 30.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trading was quiet with outside interest limited by the shutdown of United States markets because of Congressional elections today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Most prices moved narrowly and fairly steady.

There was some evidence of Oats and barley uncovered a few domestic shipping orders. Rye was quiet.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: India 1,440,000 bushels, West Germany 500,000, United Kingdom 430,000, Eire 140,000.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged from Monday.

Pearkes Expresses Thanks Of Canada as PPCLI Parade

Instant and complete destruction would face Russian cities and industries if that country started a war, Defence Minister George Pearkes said here Monday.

Following a review of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Work Point Barracks, General Pearkes, said there was "little chance" of Russia starting such a conflict as long as preparedness—as exemplified by the battalion—was kept up. The aim was to deter "any enemy, from an aggressive war."

"I thank you," he said to the battalion, "for allowing the civilian life of this country to go on peacefully."

As a former member of the regiment, he termed it "a thrill" to view the Patricia's "once again."

The defence minister indicated there was a "probability" that the battalion would once again return to Germany as part of NATO forces, "at some future date."

The First was in Germany for two years before being posted to Victoria a year ago. The minister carried out his inspection on a glistening wet parade ground, with rain pouring down. He wore a grey fedora, muffs, but no raincoat. A flower was in his buttonhole.

There were only a couple of dozen civilian observers, mostly wives of men in the battalion. Despite the rain—which seems to have fallen during most of the Patricia's ceremonies here—battalion performance was flawless. Immediately the inspection started, a 17-gun salute was fired by the 5th Independent Medium Battery, RCA.

The defence minister lunched with the commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. Thomas de Faye, and other officers.

HOSPITAL DRIVE IN CHINATOWN

A campaign will get under way soon to raise $38,000 for an addition to the Chinese Hospital, officials said Monday.

The Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association said it hopes about a quarter of the money can be raised by local subscription.

Some $4,000 for the construction costs have already been raised by Chinese Lions Club through their recent lantern festival.

Esquimalt Backs Appeal For Aid by St. Joseph's

An appeal by St. Joseph's Hospital for a contribution towards new construction won support from Esquimalt council Monday night.

The hospital is seeking a total of $300,000 from all four municipalities to add to $625,000 from the provincial government, $75,000 from Ottawa, and $250,000 to be raised by Sisters of St. Ann.

No definite commitment was made by council but Reeve A. C. Wurtele said their "obligation to the Jubilee Hospital" would have to precede any other contribution.

HOTELS WANT BARRIER REMOVED IN TAVERNS

B.C.'s hotel operators will ask the provincial government for removal of the "segregation wall" in beer parlors.

Under existing rules, women and escorts drink in one section of a beer parlor and men in another.

Plea for full "integration of the sexes" came Monday from 23 hotels that form the Hotel Operators' and Innkeepers' Society.

Separate drinking areas were "not desirable or necessary in better places," the hotelmen said.

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Do dogs know when their masters are coming home?

The thought is prompted by Punch, the black-faced Labrador owned by Defence Minister and Mrs. G. R. Pearkes.

Knowing they would soon be returning to Ottawa, Mrs. Pearkes entrusted Punch to friends on Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Yet on the day General Pearkes returned to his home from eastern Canada, Punch galloped home to welcome his master. Somehow he was there when the minister drove up to the front door.

Today General and Mrs. Pearkes flew back to Ottawa. I have no doubt Punch will be looking up the long, lonely road until they return.

Trying to contact the Wagner Opera Company, now playing in Victoria, I phoned Famous Artists Ltd., the booking agents, at EV 4-2941.

An elderly lady answered.

"Is that Famous Artists?" I inquired.

"Famous what?"

"Famous Artists."

"No, no; I'm not famous anything—I'm Mrs. Perkins."

One of many fathers who left family Halloween parties for the stern call of duty was Victoria lawyer Monty Drake. Monty spoke for the Conservative party at the open forum promoted by Town Meeting in Canada at the Britannia Legion Hall.

Halfway through the meeting, he sent down a note from the platform asking me to phone his wife and son Richard and tell them the meeting had been "prolonged."

Would they proceed with the fireworks?

So it was that Monty and myself missed the outdoor fireworks and had to make do with the indoor variety offered by fiery CCF speaker Colin Cameron.

Most of us resemble somebody else. For instance, John Greaves, the Dickensian actor-lecturer from London, England, was mistaken for Newton P. Steacy, our agriculture minister, when he arrived in Victoria.

Both men have white hair, vivid brown eyes, and are of similar height and build.

Do you know any more look-alikes? There are lots of them everywhere.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Sale of poppies in the municipality by the ladies' auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Friday was authorized by Esquimalt Council Monday night.

At the same meeting Reeve A. C. Wurtele and members of the council accepted an invitation from the Canadian Legion to attend Remembrance Day services Nov. 11 at Memorial Park.

Councillor G. K. Sammon was asked, and agreed to act as the municipality's representative at wreath-laying ceremonies in Victoria.

Donald Evans, 935 Dunsmuir, was fined $25 and $250 costs in Esquimalt police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to file 1957 income tax.

National Executive member of the Labor Progressive Party, Leslie Morris, will speak on the topic "Socialism Is Winning" at Williams Hall, 749 Broughton, Wednesday at 8 p.m. He has recently returned from a visit to Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. The meeting will be sponsored by the Victoria LPP club.

The Crown will appeal acquittal of three men charged with the $3,000 safe looting of Spencer's Stores, 1420 Douglas, last June 14.

The charge against the three men involved, Thomas A. W. McNaughton, 903 Collinson; David William Hargreaves and Kenneth L. Wallden, both of Vancouver, was dismissed by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes in Assize Court here last month.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Can you tell me the year of the Glasgow bank failure and the cause of it?—M.M.

A. There was a world commercial crisis in 1857 which affected many banks. The City of Glasgow bank closed for one month that year, reopened and finally closed entirely in 1873, never having recovered from the period of insolvency 21 years earlier.

Q. What was the date in 1917 when the Halifax explosion occurred?—A. M. M.

A. Dec. 6, 1917. There were 1,630 persons killed; damage was $35,000,000.

New Wing for Royal Jubilee Hospital to Start in 1959

Royal Jubilee Hospital addition planned for construction next year is portrayed in this sketch completed by Vancouver architects Townley and Matheson. The five-storey L-shaped wing will join the present main building and the maternity building to convert hospital into a single E-shaped building facing Fort. It will contain 130 beds, a new X-ray department and a new cancer clinic. Expected to cost about $2,000,000, it will take about two years to build and equip. The wing will increase 444 bed capacity by 80 beds after modernization of present buildings eliminate obsolete bed areas.

$2 Million Plan For Apartments In Saanich Area

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A $2,000,000 de luxe apartment subdivision will be developed in Saanich, subject to the approval of Saanich council.

The extensive project, the largest of its kind ever undertaken in Greater Victoria, calls for construction of 25 two-storey apartments on 15 acres of land in the Queenswood district.

Each apartment will contain eight suites, the 25 units will accommodate 200 family units.

The project will be developed by the Queenswood Gardens Co. Associated in the firm are Frank W. Nicolls, former director of housing, department of finance, Ottawa, and Charles and William Nelles. Charles Nelles is a Saanich councillor.

The project has been approved in principle by the town planning commission. Saanich council has called a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 17, to consider the company's application to rezone the property for apartment use.

At present Queenswood district is zoned only for single family dwellings with a minimum of 1,200 square feet.

The proposed subdivision is bounded by Arbutus, Queenswood Drive and Haro.

It is planned to develop the subdivision in keeping with the surrounding area. Each apartment will occupy one-half acre of land and will be landscaped with the existing green cover of arbutus and fir trees.

WILL KEEP TREES

The arbutus trees on Arbutus Road will not be cut down but worked in with the landscaping.

There will be one parking shelter for each apartment and all service roads will be paved among the trees.

The plan also calls for a playlot for children.

"No commercial enterprise will be permitted within the limits of the subdivision," Charles Nelles said. "It will be strictly residential."

All surrounding property, he added, will be landscaped with trees and shrubs and will be maintained by the company.

Shipyards Accept Boost for Workers

A recommended 6 per cent pay boost for B.C.'s 2,600 shipyard workers, rejected overwhelmingly by the men Monday, has been accepted by the province's three shipyards.

The boost was recommended in the report of a provincial government conciliation officer.

In view of the men's rejection of the 6 per cent, the yards asked the provincial labor department that any strike vote which might be requested by the unions be supervised by the government.

Spokesmen for both local shipyards denounced the workers' rejection of the 6 per cent recommendation.

John Wallace, general manager of Yarrows Ltd., said the unions were taking an "irresponsible attitude."

"In my opinion the yards have gone out of their way to establish continuity of work, and we accepted the pay recommendation only because we did not want to aggravate the situation. We hoped the unions would recognize the seriousness of the situation in face of the condition of world markets and competition."

H. S. Hammill, general manager of Victoria Machinery Depot, said the unions' demand for increased pay was "putting us in the worst position we've ever been in as far as competing with other shipyards is concerned."

Groos Named to Head Naval Court Martial

Lt.-Cmdr. Paul F. Wilson, commanding officer of HMCS Beacom Hill, will appear before a general court martial at HMCS Naden Nov. 12, arising out of the grounding of his ship at Vancouver Aug. 23.

President of the court will be Capt. D. W. Groos, commanding officer of HMCS Ventura.

Other members of the board will be: Capt. Eric Revfem, principal naval overseer, West Coast; Cmdr. W. M. Kidd, commanding officer, HMCS Skeena; Lt.-Cmdr. E. P. Shaw, training commander, HMCS Naden; and Lt.-Cmdr. O. J. A. Cavanagh, staff officer, navigation direction, on the staff of the flag officer Pacific Coast.

Beacom Hill, a frigate attached to the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron, backed into pilings in Vancouver harbor as she was moving away from the jetty after a Centennial year visit to the mainland city.

A board of enquiry sent its findings, without recommendation, to naval headquarters at Ottawa, which today ordered the general court martial.

CHIEF RABBAN of Gizeh Temple, Vancouver, Harry A. Borgerson, visited Victoria Monday in preparation for the Vancouver Island spring ceremonial to be held in Nanaimo in May. While here he toured Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Engineers Ask Action 'In Few Days'

Some 100 stationary engineers employed by the British Columbia government will vote on strike action if they do not receive satisfaction on their demands for pay increases "within a few days."

The B.C. Government Employees' Association's Ed O'Connor said today the engineers are disappointed that Works Minister W. N. Chant had failed to "get some satisfactory undertaking on wages from the cabinet," and would seek a strike vote within a few days.

He said a strike vote was deferred when the minister said he would put the engineers' case before the cabinet.

"But that was in mid-October," Mr. O'Connor added, "and we haven't heard anything further."

Colombo Plan Official Booked To Speak Here

The No. 2 Canadian in the administration of the Colombo Plan will address a special meeting of Victoria Chamber of Commerce in the Empress Hotel Nov. 14 at noon.

Jubilant chamber officers announced Monday that George Davey has consented to speak to the meeting. He is flying here from Seattle where he was one of two senior British representatives at a meeting called to review the Colombo Plan operation.

The Colombo Plan was formulated at a meeting of Commonwealth ministers held in 1950. Its purpose is to further the co-operative economic development of south and southeast Asia. Canada is a member of the participating nations.

Mr. Davey has served in Pakistan and Australia and was on the secretariat of the 1950 meeting.

BELOW-COST U.S. DUMPING

Ruin Threatens V.I. Poultrymen

Vancouver Island's $2,000,000 poultry industry faces ruin unless something is done quickly to stop dumping of U.S. birds in British Columbia. Charles E. S. Walls, secretary-manager of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, said today.

Mr. Walls is leaving for Ottawa next week to discuss the "dumping" problem with Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness.

He will represent both B.C. and Alberta poultry raisers.

Since September, Mr. Walls said large car loads of broilers and fryers have been shipped from the United States to British Columbia and sold to supermarket at below producer costs.

If this state of affairs is allowed to continue, it will affect B.C.'s entire $15,000,000 poultry industry, he said. "It would mean that a man with 5,000 birds would only be able to look forward to an annual income of $600."

Mr. Walls said "poultry raisers want the government to restrict the imports of broilers and fryers sold below producer costs."

He blamed the dumping of U.S. poultry on a new system of producing in the United States.

The feed companies, he explained, were buying chicks, supplying the feed and marketing the broilers; paying the farmer just a few cents per bird for raising them on his farm.

"In other words, the farmer is just an employee of the feed companies," he said.

"We do not want this situation duplicated in B.C., where we have an expanding market that is already assimilating some 225,000 pounds of broilers weekly."

Society Elects Maj.-Gen. Stein

Major-General C. R. Stein has been elected chairman of the Royal Commonwealth Society, Vancouver Island branch. He succeeds Major H. Cuthbert Holmes who was instrumental in establishing the local branch.

Other officers of the society are: T. H. Cressy, vice-chairman; Barbara Bullock-Webster, second vice-chairman; J. A. A. George, secretary, and M. T. Davies, treasurer.

4 SHIPS FROM FAR EAST LOADING AT OGDEN PT.

The mysterious East took over Ogden Point docks today, with three Japanese and one Chinese ship loading lumber.

The Oriental "full house" included Umi Maru, Ankel Maru and Motishima Maru—all of Japanese registry—plus Chi Lung, from Nationalist China.

It was the first time since the end of the Second World War that all ships at The Point were from the Orient.

AMALGAMATION REPORT

This is the sixth of 10 parts presenting the text of a report made by Dr. J. J. Deutsch to a Victoria-Saanich committee in which amalgamation of the two municipalities was recommended. The report is being printed in a serial form in the interests of voters who may cast ballots on the question.

ANTICIPATED TRENDS IN LEVELS OF TAXATION

The expenditures on current services in both municipalities are paid for in part from taxes, in part from provincial grants, and in part from fees, franchises, service charges, recoverable debt charges and sundry revenues. In this study the costs of education have not been taken into account.

Presumably the situation regarding the finances of education would be the same whether or not amalgamation takes place.

For the purpose of making the projections used in this study, the committee has had to assume, lacking any information to the contrary, that present provincial government policies regarding provincial grants and assistance to municipalities would be continued throughout the next five-year period.

Accordingly the projected receipts by the two municipalities from the provincial government were calculated on the basis of the existing formulas. It follows that the remaining revenues required to finance the forecast expenditures would have to be obtained from municipal taxes and from fees, franchises, service charges, etc.

In this connection the estimated amounts to be raised from taxation are of special interest. The projected trends over the next five years in the general levels of taxation are indicated in the table below.

$20,000 OR ELSE, SAYS HARBORD

Niggardly Chest Donors Face Exposure in 2 Weeks

Community Chest campaign manager Justin Harbord laid it on the line to a group of Victoria firms Monday—ante up $20,000, or else.

Or else he will make public their names within two weeks. Names of companies who have given adequately will be included in the list, "because we do not want to be discriminatory."

Only one member of the Chest committee argued against the proposal at the Spencerhouse meeting. Dermot O'Keefe, co-chairman of the public services division, said such action might hurt future Red Feather appeals, but Mr. Harbord interrupted him with:

"It's silly to argue about it now. There is a limit to how far my patience will go and I am not prepared to be patient much longer."

"This thing sticks up like a sore thumb. It is obvious many firms are taking advantage of their anonymity and hiding behind it. They are hiding their Chest gifts from the public, their employees and their competitors because they think there will be no publicity."

—Mr. Harbord said his proposal is a must "and I have known it for some time."

"Unless gifts improve within the next two weeks, and we need another $20,000, suitable publicity will be prepared."

Lipsticks refuse to be outdone by the "new shape" in fashion. In fact, the versatile lip makeup now has a revolutionary shape and a case to go with it.

It's an attractive oval case of sophisticated tortoise-shell, embossed with delicately-wrought conventional gold design. It is neatly fitted with mirror and a lipstick that comes in 12 fashion shades, ranging from palest pink to radiant red.

This lipstick is different, too, in the fact that it won't come off until you remove it. No blotting is necessary and it never dries the lips. Cost of lipstick alone is $1.50. For a short time, though, you can get lipstick and case for the special price of $1.95!

Care of your cherished gloves starts with a special powdered formula... a glove bath. Created with your good kid, lace, nylon or rayon gloves in mind, the soap will make grubby gloves sparkle again. A box is priced at $1.

Attractive, and a marvellous gift for young or old, is a leather box of plain white stationery. The box is long and flat with butterflies engraved in gold on the top. Note paper and envelopes are simple and plain making them excellent for personal notes or social letters. The boxes and paper are only 98 cents each.

Colorful Wedding in St. Barbara's Chapel

Dress uniforms were worn by the groom, best man and ushers at the wedding of Cpl. and Mrs. M. M. Kowalski, last Saturday.

Padre A. G. Reid performed the ceremony which took place in St. Barbara's Chapel, Work Point Barracks. Bride was Miss Betty Jean Keetch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Keetch of Victoria, and the groom, Martin Michael Kowalski, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kowalski of Wishart, Sask.

A waltz-length gown of net and taffeta, styled with an apron of lace and bodice featuring a sabrina neckline with short sleeves, was worn by the bride. Her veil was chapel length and she carried roses with white carnations.

As matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. J. Mellings, wore peach silk organza over taffeta. Bridesmaids, Joy Hauser and Sharron Keetch, wore bouffant net over taffeta gowns, with bolero jackets in green and yellow. Their hats were of white feathers and they carried two-toned flower fans. Flower girls, Debbie Porter, cousin of the bride, and Debbie Bolan, wore pink net over taffeta with matching headbands of pink net and flowers. They carried baskets of mixed posies.

Best man was Cpl. Len Mark and ushers were Cpl. Gordon Johnson and Cpl. Chris Yarborough.

Reception was held in the corporals' mess, Work Point Barracks, Esquimalt. Wedding cake was made by Mrs. Jack Richardson and decorated by the bride's mother.

Following their wedding reception, Mr. and Mrs. Kowalski left for Wishart, Sask., where parents of the groom are giving a second reception in the young couple's honor.

Going away, the bride wore a blue knitted suit with a blue and white top coat and matching feather hat.

Cpl. and Mrs. Kowalski will make their home in Esquimalt.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

DOUBLE ROLE FOR BROTHER:

Could my brother give me away at my wedding and at the same time be an usher? Have no one else.

LOUISE DAVIS Answers:

I have never heard of such a case, but I heartily approve of it. There would be nothing awkward about your brother assuming the two roles. After he finishes his ushering duties, he can join you for the processional. An alternative could be that you be escorted to the altar by a family friend of long standing.

DEAR NEWLY: Admit you misjudged him and go home to your parents. A meeting with your parents, his parents and your husband should be arranged at once, and invite a clergyman, too. If this boy is not prepared to accept the responsibilities of a husband, an annulment now is better than a reconciliation followed by a divorce five children later.

DEAR ABBY:

My employer's daughter is being married in an evening ceremony in November. It will be a very fashionable affair. My husband and I were invited to the wedding and reception but my husband does not want to attend because he has only one suit—a charcoal grey tweed with a fleck of red in it. He feels he would be conspicuous in this suit. We cannot afford to buy him a new suit for this occasion. Should I attend the wedding alone? If I didn't attend, my employer would wonder why. Any advice will be appreciated. IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Your husband could borrow (or rent) a dark suit or tuxedo for this occasion if he feels his only suit would be inappropriate. You should both attend.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

CHATTER—I suppose no one can know if it really means anything or not but only two westerns made Nielsen's top 10 for the month of October. Last season, in contrast, six horse operas placed in Nielsen's top 10. "Gunsmoke" is still the leader at 42.2, well ahead of "Hawaii Five-O" at 35.3. The others spread out as follows: World Series, 34.9; "Lucy" returns, 34.4; GE Theatre, 33.2; "Harvey," 32.2; Garry Moore and Red Skelton, 31.1; I've Got a Secret, 30.7; Alfred Hitchcock Presents, 29.9. All of the shows appeared on the CBS-TV network except NBC's World Series telecasts. The highest rating ABC-TV show was "The Real McCoys" which finished just out of the running in the No. 11 spot.

Still on the subject of ratings: It looks, to judge by the ratings, that Steve Allen is in danger of being ridden into the dust by the more successful and Lawman, much more than last reported in this column. Sullivan isn't winning but he's fighting back.

If this proves anything it might be that Sullivan can keep the bulk of his fans through thick and thin while Allen's people are of a more fickle character.

Another one getting his lumps is Dinah Shore's hubby, George Montgomery. His Saturday night "Cimarron City" is being side-winded by a pair of CBS-TV oaters called "Have Gun, Will Travel" and "Gunsmoke." No wonder! The top two in the field.

IN HIS SLOT Lawrence Welk, at last rating, was beating Gale Storm and Steve Canyon, in that order. However, that's in Larry's first 30 minutes. The second half wasn't quite as easy as the bubbly music man got cut down to half by "Have Gun, Will Travel." Although Omnibus got its best first-time rating in all the years it has been on TV, it was shaded by Lone Ranger, 13.9 to 13.7. Walt Disney lowered the boom on its competition, registering 17.2 and 19.2 to displace Ellery Queen's 12 and 14.7; Jackie Gleason 14.9 and Trackdown's 13.7.

"Thin Man" opened the new season with 14.5 to get the best of "77 Sunset Strip" which garnered 12.6. But "Thin Man" in turn was bested by "Schlitz Playhouse" with 17.2. Perry Como, as expected, made it a Saturday night romp with 31.9, almost doubling "Wanted Dead or Alive" at 16.6 and smothering ABC-TV's "Jubilee" with 3.6.

Love Born of Confidence, Trust

By NORMAN BAREYMAINE

CHAPTER 8

During his tours of duty, Peter Townsend did not return home at all. Then he was given six weeks off, when he was home all the time. It was a routine not particularly conducive to married bliss. Rosemary was either a "palace widow" or a wife with a husband in constant attendance. The former meant days of boredom for Rosemary, and the latter situation was irksome to them both.

These erratic hours put a strain on the marriage. Peter, an active man, got bored when he was not on duty. Time hung on his hands. To try to solve his problem, he worked in Lloyds for an underwriter during his periods off duty. But as time went on and his relationship with the King and his family became closer, Peter was inevitably away from home more and more.

Then Rosemary complained to a friend: "Peter spends more time at his work than in his home." Slowly the marriage began to break up.

Nevertheless, Peter's posting as an Equerry of Honor to the King turned out to be just what he wanted when peace came. His strong sense of duty was now concentrated on service to the monarchy. His perfectionism and easy manner meant that his service was performed flawlessly and with no apparent effort.

Test Came With Tour

Peter's real test as an Equerry came in the spring of 1947 when the royal family left England on the battleship Vanguard to start their long South African tour. It lasted three months and covered nearly 10,000 miles. From first to last Princess Margaret saw quite a good deal of Peter Townsend. He often rode with her and her sister.

Perhaps during this tour came the beginning of an easy, quite unconscious relationship between the Princess and Townsend, a relationship based on liking, trust, shared tastes and interests, admiration.

And during the South African tour, Peter endeared himself to the King. He made himself invaluable. Perhaps his happiest moment was when the King put his hand on his shoulder and said laughingly: "I don't know what we would do without you, Peter."

Peter was at Margaret's side and uncomplicated. And there was their religion, or to put it more accurately, the spiritual side of their lives.

Gossip of Suitors

How did Princess Margaret manage to keep her affection for Peter Townsend secret for so long? As we have seen, she was determined to keep her true feelings from the glare of publicity. And yet she perhaps fostered some of the gossip about her alleged suitors.

But from the time she was 17, the rumors bubbled thick and fast. Some of the stories, like the raging affair supposedly launched when King Michael of Rumania lent her a theatre program, made her laugh.

Margaret's potential suitors, who, in fact, turned out to be nothing more than escorts to theatres, dinner parties, or night clubs, had to be acceptable at court. Their background, upbringing, and temperament had to be perfectly

Toy Firm Must Pay For Boy's Lost Eye

Garbage Disposal Units Unsuitable For Septic Tanks

A warning that automatic garbage disposal units are unsuitable for septic tank areas in Saanich has been sounded by municipal engineer Neville Life today.

The units are being used by some Saanich residents. They are fitted to kitchen sinks and grind up garbage, flushing it into sewers or septic tanks with water.

Mr. Life said the extra use of water to flush the garbage through the septic tank system could result in an overflow in the disposal field.

An overflowing disposal field, he said, can cause a health problem which would have to be corrected by the householder.

'Review All Licences Issued by Sommers'

---CCF Leader

By PETE LOUDON, Times Legislative Reporter
A detailed probe of all forest management licences issued while Robert Sommers was B.C. minister of forests was called for today by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

Speaking on the conviction of Mr. Sommers Saturday on bribery-conspiracy charges, the CCF leader also called on B.C. voters to "throw out" Attorney-General Robert Bonner "and the government which has supported him."

Mr. Strachan said: "As a public servant, my first concern is to determine the impact of the findings of the court on the forest industry—in the industry which Mr. Sommers directed while he was minister."

"In 1956, while speaking in the legislature, CCF members, pressing for investigation, said if any wrong-doing is discovered, it will then be mandatory upon the government to make a complete review of every forest management licence and every timber contract that had passed through the minister's hands."

According to the Sloan report of 1956, about 10 forest management licences were issued between 1952 and 1955—roughly the period in which Mr. Sommers held cabinet office.

Mr. Strachan said any responsible government must be certain those in control of natural resources receive no special favors.

"When the court case is finally finished, we must then apply ourselves to the examination the CCF has been asking for since 1956," he added.

Committee or Commission Suggested

This could be done, said Mr. Strachan, either by a special committee of the legislature, or "... a reinstitution of the royal commission which was arbitrarily dismissed by Mr. Bonner a year ago."

(A royal commission under former chief justice Gordon Sloan was established to enquire into allegations and determine whether bribery or conspiracy was involved with issuance of forest management licences. It was abandoned when court action was begun.)

"Perhaps members of the legislature have been closer to details of this case than the general public and have been more aware of Mr. Bonner's incompetence and bungling," said Mr. Strachan with regard to delays in settling the Sommers case.

"I personally moved a vote of non-confidence in the attorney-general. My opinions have not changed. But I have given up appealing to Mr. Bonner's conscience or code of ethics. He has brought politics in B.C. to a new low."

"I will not appeal any more to Mr. Bonner to resign. I simply expect the people to throw him out at the next election—and the government which has supported him."

Mr. Strachan remarked also on comment by the attorney-general that an obscure point of law exists as to whether Mr. Sommers' seat in the House is automatically vacated by his conviction.

"The ethics of the British parliamentary system make it impossible for Mr. Sommers to continue as an MLA for Rossland-Trail. If perchance there is some obscure point of law which would allow him to keep his seat, Mr. Sommers should resign."

Jury Retiring For Bribe Verdict

VANCOUVER—The jury in the Sommers case will retire late this afternoon to determine the guilt or innocence of the various accused on the specific charges of giving and accepting bribes.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson this morning finished his charge on the bribery counts involving the alleged donors of the gifts and loans.

He then continued his charge in reference to seven counts in which Sommers is accused of accepting bribes.

He is expected to wind up this afternoon and give these two final phases of the lengthy case to the jury.

The jury will have to bring in 57 verdicts dealing with separate transactions which the Crown has alleged amounted to giving and taking of bribes.

In his final summing up this morning, the 78th day of the trial, the judge told the jury it is no defence to say that someone else's money was used for bribery if all were involved in the same plot.

He used the example of a king in a medieval castle.

He said that if two courtiers went to the king's cup-bearer and proposed to poison the monarch by pouring a lethal liquid in his cup and the king died, the courtiers could not escape by saying it was the other fellow's poison that did the job.

He re-defined to the jury of nine men and three women his generalization of Monday that their decisions on the conspiracy phase of the case would not influence their decisions on the bribery counts.

FLOOD DAM TO BE BUILT ACROSS FRASER

The B.C. government proposes to erect a flood control dam on the Fraser River to avoid repetition of the disastrous floods of 1948, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said today.

He said an engineering report on the project would be out "in a few days."

"We have to dam the Fraser for flood control purposes," he said.

Vote Fairly Heavy

'A Few Straws' For Republicans

WASHINGTON (CP)—Voting was reported moderately heavy in many areas of the United States in today's election of a new Congress, state and local officers. Generally, the weather was good.

In early reports, there were a few straws to boost Republican hopes that their partisans were turning out in a fashion to trump advance Democratic claims of possible unprecedented gains.

Outstate Michigan, much of it traditionally Republican, reported heavy voting, while in Democratic Detroit balloting was running behind 1954 and 1956.

Maryland's early vote was heavier than anticipated. In the past, a big vote has usually worked to the advantage of Republicans in that heavily Democratic state.

Pre-election estimates were that 48,000,000 voters would cast ballots.

Hot fights in some states over right-to-work proposals helped draw voters to the polls.

The right-to-work proposals bar labor-management contracts which require a worker to join a union to hold his job. In addition to Ohio, such proposals were on the ballot in California, Colorado, Kansas, Idaho and Washington.

In New York, the contest between Democratic Governor Averell Harriman and Republican Nelson Rockefeller for the governorship was pulling out voters in apparently record or near-record numbers.

As usual, there were a few small polling places which got ballots quickly from all their eligible voters and made their counts.

Waterville, N.H., was first. It gave 15 votes to Wesley Powell, Republican candidate for governor, and six to Bernard L. Boutin, his Democratic opponent. Two years ago, this community cast 13 votes, all Republican.

50 STRICKEN IN BIG CRUSH AT VATICAN

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Fifty persons were taken ill in the crush of Romans and tourists who packed St. Peter's Square today to watch the coronation of Pope John XXIII.

Doctors who treated many of them at first aid posts on either side of the vast square said most were suffering from lack of food—they had fasted in order to take holy communion at the end of the coronation ceremonies—or from exhaustion.

Nonetheless, his hands crossed on his chest.

No move was made except for the singing of the choir—"A Golden Crown Is Placed Upon His Head"—until one minute before 1 p.m., when Cardinal Canali advanced with the crown.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant intoned the "Our Father," and continued with other special prayers, his French accent showing through the age-old church Latin.

'Accipe Tiaram'

The golden mitre was removed from the Pope's head and Cardinal Canali began the words of the coronation: "Accipe tiaram"—receive this tiara.

With the last word of the formula he placed the heavy triple crown in place.

Army regiments massed on the square presented arms in a misty rain.

There was a moment of silence. Then the great crowd burst into roars, only to subside as the Pope rose to bestow a blessing "Urbi et orbi"—to the city and the world.

At the moment of blessing, cardinals and bishops gathered on two adjoining balconies and took off their mitres. Those who could in the dense throng dropped to their knees on the wet cobblestones.

The bells of St. Peter's and the hundreds of churches of Rome pealed joyously.

Humble Ending

For all its magnificence, the four-hour ceremony ended on a humble note. The Pontiff returned alone from his triumphant appearance on the balcony to his austere apartments.

Even the flash of jewelled crowns, the rich garments of breath-taking fineness and the processions and coronation pageantry were diffused in the humble sacrifice of the mass Pope John said bare-headed at the central altar under the 300-foot dome of St. Peter's.

It was subdued further by the thrice-worded admonition by an assistant as the Pontiff dropped flax into the flames of a candle: "Sic transit gloria mundi..." (thus passes the glory of the world).

250,000 Thunder Ovation As New Pope Receives Crown

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII, the humble son of an Italian farmer, was crowned 262nd Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church today in a ceremony of devout and regal splendor.

A quarter of a million persons massed on the cobble-stoned square of St. Peter's thundered an ovation of "Viva il Papa" when the three-tiered crown of gold, silver and diamonds was placed upon his head.

The 76-year-old man who was born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli had assumed the full powers of leadership of the world's 500 million Catholics when the college of cardinals elected him as successor to Pope Pius XII.

The four-hour ceremony of crowning the new pope took place on the main balcony of St. Peter's Basilica where Nicola Cardinal Canali placed the golden tiara on his head with these words:

Golden Tiara

"Receive this tiara adorned with three crowns and know that thou art the father of princes and kings, guide of the world, vicar upon earth of Jesus Christ our Lord to whom let there be glory and honor without end."

A tremendous roar from the crowd echoed from the seven hills of Rome as the Pope arose and bestowed upon it his blessing, standing under the red velvet and gold-rimmed canopy set up to protect him from rain or sun.

The papal mass, the spiritual heart of the ceremony, was celebrated before the papal altar. The Pope, in a sermon in Latin, stressed the heavy burdens of the pontificate and paid tribute to Pius XII.

He listed the qualities required of a good pastor and said practical abilities and diplomatic skill were not enough without Christian virtue and charity.

"The main precept of divine institution is the evangelistic precept of humility," he said. "... All of you, in all parts of the world, who are pious and fervent, pray for your pontiff."

Feast Day

He noted that his coronation, "happily coincided" with the Catholic feast day of St. Charles Borromeo, a 16th-century archbishop of Milan. He said he particularly invoked the protection of St. Charles in his burden of restoring the spiritual strength of the church.

The mass ended and with the final blessing the procession began moving toward the balcony. Outside rain began falling and the multitude in the square opened their umbrellas, looking like a vast sea of multi-colored mushrooms, sprung up miraculously.

Thunderous applause and the waving of thousands of handkerchiefs greeted the progress of the procession down the aisle and up the long flight of marble stairs to the balcony.

There the big gold-and-jewel-encrusted throne was waiting for the pontiff. Priests, and nuns had filled the roof of the Loggia Dei Dame on the right-hand colonnade outside.

The cardinals accompanied the Pope to the door of the Basilica and then went to the apostolic palace by elevator. Diplomats and special representatives also went by elevator to the loggia of the dame and the loggia of Charlemagne to watch the coronation. Representing Canada was Jules Legger, ambassador to NATO, and ambassador to Italy Leon Mayrand.

The pope appeared himself on the central balcony at 12:53 p.m. to a massive surge of applause and the first shouts of "Viva il Papa!"

250,000 Cheer

The Pope took his place on the elevated throne, looking down on more than a quarter of a million cheering, shouting persons waving handkerchiefs and flags telling where they were from.

Three noble guards flanked the throne.

The ceremonial ostrich plume fans used throughout the ceremony inside the Basilica also appeared, held aloft, one on each side of the throne. They symbolically represent cherubs.

The pope sat perfectly motionless, his hands crossed on his chest.

Comet Rushes Films To New York for TV

LONDON (UPI)—A Comet jet airliner streaked from London to New York today in an attempt to make television history by delivering film of the coronation in time for transmission to U.S. audiences tonight.

The four-engine queen of the British Overseas Airways jet-powered fleet left London airport at 11:07 a.m. (3:07 a.m. PST) and was scheduled to reach New York about 2 p.m. PST.

The Comet carried film taken from television screens in Britain of the coronation ceremonies transmitted across the continent of Europe and the English Channel by Europe's co-axial cable and microwave relay "Eurovision" link.

Film showed earlier stages of the coronation ceremonies transmitted from St. Peter's.

Meanwhile in Paris, a Boeing 707, the Comet's giant rival of Pan American in the transatlantic "battle of the jets" stood poised at Le Bour-

Award for St. Laurent

MONTREAL (CP) — With quiet dignity, former prime minister Louis St. Laurent Monday night accepted the human relations award of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

"My contribution has been only a small factor in the results which have been achieved," he said when presented with the award for his contribution to the cause of better understanding among the different groups making up the population of Canada.

National unity and brotherly understanding are important in a nation, he said. The result as now seen in Canada has been due to the efforts of both the English and French-speaking leaders over a long period of time.

Among persons who forwarded messages of tribute to the former Liberal leader were CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell and Justice Minister Davie Fulton.

CONTRACT DRAFTED TO END STEEL STRIKE

TORONTO (CP) — Union and management today were drafting a contract for 8,077 workers at Hamilton's Steel Company of Canada plant, spelling an end to one of Canada's costliest strikes of the year.

He said only that company and union officials "have agreed to prepare a memorandum of settlement" and that strikers would vote on it at a mass meeting Wednesday.

The agreement was expected to provide for a 26-cent hourly wage increase spread over a three-year contract, retroactive to Aug. 1. There was no indication of what fringe benefits might be added.

Police to Hit Teen Hoodlums On Halloween

Halloween hoodlums were lashed by Esquimalt Councillor Vincent Rush at council meeting Monday night.

"It is one day in the year," he said, "when senior vandals can come out and deliberately and wantonly destroy."

"We as a council should pass a bylaw against this sort of thing, it's nothing but an excuse to let off steam."

He told of a gang of "hoodlums", aged 18 and 19 and 15 to 20 strong, who smashed municipal tiles, threw bombs, and fired home-made revolvers.

Municipal engineer John Graeme reported that 30 signs were damaged or stolen and three lights were smashed.

"We should spend more money," said Coun. G. K. Sammon, "and get special police to cope with the problem."

"I'll promise to bring this up before the police commission and the inter-municipal council," said Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

Curbs Studied on Jap Fishing

TOKYO (AP)—The International North Pacific Commission instructed one of its committees today to investigate further whether more restrictions are needed on Japanese salmon fishing.

This was decided at the first closed-door meeting of the fifth annual plenary session represented by the United States, Canada and Japan.

Delegates agreed to hand to the protocol committee for further study the issue concerning the intermingling of salmon of North American and Asian origin, one of the most delicate issues facing the conference.

The United States is reported to want to move farther westward a 175-degree west longitude boundary. Japanese cannot fish east of the boundary.

Pearkes Expresses Thanks Of Canada as PPCLI Parade

Instant and complete destruction would face Russian cities and industries if that country started a war, Defence Minister George Pearkes said here Monday.

Following a review of the First Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Work Point Barracks, General Pearkes, said there was "little chance" of Russia starting such a conflict as long as preparedness—as exemplified by the battalion—was kept up.

The aim was to deter "any enemy, from an aggressive war."

"I thank you," he said to the battalion, "for allowing the civilian life of this country to go on peacefully.

"On behalf of the government of Canada, we appreciate the service you are rendering."

As a former member of the regiment, he termed it "a thrill" to view the Patricia's "once again."

The defence minister indicated there was a "probability" that the battalion would once again return to Germany as part of NATO forces, "at some future date."

The First was in Germany for two years before being posted to Victoria a year ago.

The minister carried out his inspection on a glistening wet parade ground, with rain pouring down. He wore a grey fedora, mufti, but no raincoat. A flower was in his buttonhole.

There were only a couple of dozen civilian observers, mostly wives of men in the battalion.

Despite the rain—which seems to have fallen during most of the Patricia's ceremonies here—battalion performance was flawless.

Immediately the inspection started, a 17-gun salute was fired by the 5th Independent Medium Battery, RCA.

The defence minister lunched with the commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. Thomas de Faye, and other officers.

No definite commitment was made by council but Reeve A. C. Wurtele said their "obligation to the Jubilee Hospital" would have to precede any other contribution.

HOTELS WANT BARRIER REMOVED IN TAVERNS

B.C.'s hotel operators will ask the provincial government for removal of the "segregation wall" in beer parlors.

Under existing rules, women and escorts drink in one section of a beer parlor and men in another.

Plea for full "integration of the sexes" came Monday from 23 hotels that form the Hotel Operators' and Innkeepers' Society.

Separate drinking areas were "not desirable or necessary in better places," the hotelmen said.

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Do dogs know when their masters are coming home?

The thought is prompted by Punch, the black-faced Labrador owned by Defence Minister and Mrs. G. R. Pearkes.

Knowing they would soon be returning to Ottawa, Mrs. Pearkes entrusted Punch to friends on Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Yet on the day General Pearkes returned to his home from eastern Canada, Punch galloped home to welcome his master. Somehow he was there when the minister drove up to the front door.

Today General and Mrs. Pearkes flew back to Ottawa. I have no doubt Punch will be looking up the long, lonely road until they return.

Trying to contact the Wagner Opera Company, now playing in Victoria, I phoned Famous Artists Ltd., the booking agents, at EV 4-2941.

An elderly lady answered.

"Is that Famous Artists?" I inquired.

"Famous what?"

"Famous Artists."

"No, no; I'm not famous anything—I'm Mrs. Perkins."

One of many fathers who left family Halloween parties for the stern call of duty was Victoria lawyer Monty Drake. Monty spoke for the Conservative party at the open forum promoted by Town Meeting in Canada at the Britannia Legion Hall.

Halfway through the meeting, he sent down a note from the platform asking me to phone his wife and son Richard and tell them the meeting had been "prolonged."

Would they proceed with the fireworks?

So it was that Monty and myself missed the outdoor fireworks and had to make do with the indoor variety offered by fiery CCF speaker Colin Cameron.

Most of us resemble somebody else. For instance, John Greaves, the Dickensian actor-lecturer from London, England, was mistaken for Newton P. Steacy, our agriculture minister, when he arrived in Victoria.

Both men have white hair, vivid brown eyes, and are of similar height and build.

Do you know any more look-alikes? There are lots of them everywhere.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Sale of poppies in the municipality by the ladies' auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Friday was authorized by Esquimalt Council Monday night.

At the same meeting Reeve A. C. Wurtele and members of the council accepted an invitation from the Canadian Legion to attend Remembrance Day services Nov. 11 at Memorial Park.

Councillor G. K. Sammon was asked, and agreed, to act as the municipality's representative at wreath-laying ceremonies in Victoria.

Donald Evans, 935 Dunsuir, was fined $25 and $250 costs in Esquimalt police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to file 1957 income tax.

National Executive member of the Labor Progressive Party, Leslie Morris, will speak on the topic "Socialism Is Winning" at Williams Hall, 749 Broughton, Wednesday at 8 p.m. He has recently returned from a visit to Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. The meeting will be sponsored by the Victoria LPP club.

The Crown will appeal acquittal of three men charged with the $3,000 safe looting of Spencer's Stores, 1420 Douglas, last June 14.

The charge against the three men involved, Thomas A. W. McNaughton, 903 Collinson; David William Hargreaves and Kenneth L. Wallden, both of Vancouver, was dismissed by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes in Assize Court here last month.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Can you tell me the year of the Glasgow bank failure and the cause of it?—M.M.

A. There was a world commercial crisis in 1857 which affected many banks. The City of Glasgow bank closed for one month that year, reopened and finally closed entirely in 1878, never having recovered from the period of insolvency 21 years earlier.

Q. What was the date in 1917 when the Halifax explosion occurred?—A. M. M.

A. Dec. 6, 1917. There were 1,636 persons killed; damage was $35,000,000.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily. New Wing for Royal Jubilee Hospital to Start in 1959

Royal Jubilee Hospital addition planned for construction next year is portrayed in this sketch completed by Vancouver architects Townley and Matheson. The five-storey L-shaped wing will join the present main building and the maternity building to convert hospital into a single E-shaped building facing Fort. It will contain 130 beds, a new X-ray department and a new cancer clinic. Expected to cost about $2,000,000, it will take about two years to build and equip. The wing will increase 444 bed capacity by 80 beds after modernization of present buildings eliminate obsolete bed areas.

$2 Million Plan For Apartments In Saanich Area

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A $2,000,000 de luxe apartment subdivision will be developed in Saanich, subject to the approval of Saanich council.

The extensive project, the largest of its kind ever undertaken in Greater Victoria, calls for construction of 25 two-storey apartments on 15 acres of land in the Queenswood district.

Each apartment to contain eight suites, the 25 units will accommodate 200 family units.

The project will be developed by the Queenswood Gardens Co. Associated in the firm are Frank W. Nicolls, former director of housing, department of finance, Ottawa, and Charles and William Nelles. Charles Nelles is a Saanich councillor.

PUBLIC HEARING

The project has been approved in principle by the town planning commission. Saanich council has called a public hearing for 7:30 p.m., Nov. 17, to consider the company's application to rezone the property for apartment use.

At present Queenswood district is zoned only for single family dwellings with a minimum of 1,200 square feet. The proposed subdivision is bounded by Arbutus, Queenswood Drive and Haro.

It is planned to develop the subdivision in keeping with the surrounding area. Each apartment will occupy one-half acre of land and will be landscaped with the existing green cover of arbutus and fir trees.

WILL KEEP TREES

The arbutus trees on Arbutus Road will not be cut down but worked in with the landscaping.

There will be one parking shelter for each apartment and all service roads will be paved among the trees.

The plan also calls for a playlot for children.

"No commercial enterprise will be permitted within the limits of the subdivision," Charles Nelles said. "It will be strictly residential."

All surrounding property, he added, will be landscaped with trees and shrubs and will be maintained by the company.

Engineers Ask Action 'In Few Days'

Some 100 stationary engineers employed by the British Columbia government will vote on strike action if they do not receive satisfaction on their demands for pay increases "within a few days."

The B.C. Government Employees' Association's Ed O'Connor said today the engineers are disappointed that Works Minister W. N. Chant had failed to "get some satisfactory undertaking on wages from the cabinet," and would seek a strike vote within a few days.

He said a strike vote was deferred when the minister said he would put the engineers' case before the cabinet.

"But that was in mid-October," Mr. O'Connor added, "and we haven't heard anything further."

Colombo Plan Official Booked To Speak Here

The No. 2 Canadian in the administration of the Colombo Plan will address a special meeting of Victoria Chamber of Commerce in the Empress Hotel Nov. 14 at noon.

Jubilant chamber officers announced Monday that George Davey has consented to speak to the meeting. He is flying here from Seattle where he was one of two senior British representatives at a meeting called to review the Colombo Plan operation.

The Colombo Plan was formulated at a meeting of Commonwealth ministers held in 1950. Its purpose is to further the co-operative economic development of south and southeast Asia. Canada is a member of the participating nations.

Mr. Davey has served in Pakistan and Australia and was the secretariat of the 1950 meeting.

BELOW-COST U.S. DUMPING

Ruin Threatens V.I. Poultrymen

Vancouver Island's $2,000,000 poultry industry faces ruin unless something is done quickly to stop dumping of U.S. birds in British Columbia, Charles E. S. Walls, secretary-manager of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, said today.

Mr. Walls is leaving for Ottawa next week, to discuss the "dumping" problem with Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness.

He will represent both B.C. and Alberta poultry raisers.

Since September, Mr. Walls said large car loads of broilers and fryers have been shipped from the United States to British Columbia and sold to supermarkets at below producer costs.

If this state of affairs is allowed to continue, it will affect B.C.'s entire $15,000,000 poultry industry, he said. "It would mean that a man with 5,000 birds would only be able to look forward to an annual income of $600."

Mr. Walls said poultry raisers want the government to restrict the imports of broilers and fryers sold below producer costs.

He blamed the dumping of U.S. poultry on a new system of producing in the United States.

The feed companies, he explained, were buying chicks, supplying the feed and marketing the broilers; paying the farmer just a few cents per bird for raising them on his farm.

"In other words, the farmer is just an employee of the feed companies," he said.

"We do not want this situation duplicated in B.C., where we have an expanding market that is already assimilating some 225,000 pounds of broilers weekly."

Society Elects Maj.-Gen. Stein

Major-General C. R. Stein has been elected chairman of the Royal Commonwealth Society, Vancouver Island branch. He succeeds Major H. Cuthbert Holmes who was instrumental in establishing the local branch.

Other officers of the society are: T. H. Cressy, vice-chairman; Barbara Bullock-Webster, second vice-chairman; J. A. A. George, secretary, and M. T. Davies, treasurer.

AMALGAMATION REPORT

This is the sixth of 16 parts presenting the text of a report made by Dr. J. J. Deutsch to a Victoria-Saanich committee in which amalgamation of the two municipalities was recommended. The report is being printed in a serial form in the interests of voters who may cast ballots on the question.

ANTICIPATED TRENDS IN LEVELS OF TAXATION
The expenditures on current services in both municipalities are paid for in part from taxes, in part from provincial grants, and in part from fees, franchises, service charges, recoverable debt charges and sundry revenues. In this study the costs of education have not been taken into account.

Presumably the situation regarding the finances of education would be the same whether or not amalgamation takes place.

For the purpose of making the projections used in this study, the committee has had to assume, lacking any information to the contrary, that present provincial government policies regarding provincial grants and assistance to municipalities would be continued throughout the next five-year period.

Accordingly the projected receipts by the two municipalities from the provincial government were calculated on the basis of the existing formulas. It follows that the remaining revenues required to finance the forecast expenditures would have to be obtained from municipal taxes and from fees, franchises, service charges, etc.

In this connection the estimated amounts to be raised from taxation are of special interest. The projected trends over the next five years in the general levels of taxation are indicated in the table below.

DEAR ABBY...

Barefoot and Happy!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every morning when I drive my son to school I pass a certain house and I see a man come out to get the morning paper in his pyjamas. This is not all. He is barefoot but he wears a hat. He recognizes me by my car and he always waves and tips his hat. I am so embarrassed for my little boy that I nearly lose control of the car. Do you think a man who wears a hat when he goes out to get the morning paper in his pyjamas and bare feet is quite right in the head? Should I report him, ignore him or what?

SHOCKED DRIVER
DEAR SHOCKED: His attire is a little startling, I admit, but it doesn't indicate there is anything the matter with his head (he's protecting it, anyway). If this shocks you, take another route.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and my husband is 22. We were married only three weeks when his mama came to our apartment with an empty suitcase, packed his clothes and moved him out. He stood there like a dummy while she told me to my face I didn't know anything about feeding a husband and she needed him worse than I did. He stayed away three days so I went to his mama's and we had a big battle and I asked him to come home with me. He said he'd think it over. He's still thinking it over and it is going on a week. My folks signed for me to get married although they weren't very crazy about him, so I can't go home and tell them they were right and I was wrong. My money is running low. Where can I turn?

NEWLYWED
DEAR NEWLY: Admit you misjudged him and go home to your parents. A meeting with your parents, his parents and your husband should be arranged at once, and invite a clergyman, too. If this boy is not prepared to accept the responsibilities of a husband, an annulment now is better than a reconciliation followed by a divorce five children later.

DEAR ABBY: My employer's daughter is being married in an evening ceremony in November. It will be a very fashionable affair. My husband and I were invited to the wedding and reception but my husband does not want to attend because he has only one suit—a charcoal grey tweed with a fleck of red in it. He feels he would be conspicuous in this suit. We cannot afford to buy him a new suit for this occasion. Should I attend the wedding alone? If I didn't attend, my employer would wonder why. Any advice will be appreciated. IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Your husband could borrow (or rent) a dark suit or tuxedo for this occasion if he feels his only suit would be inappropriate. You should both attend.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookstore to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Colorful Wedding in St. Barbara's Chapel

Dress uniforms were worn by the groom, best man and ushers at the wedding of Cpl. and Mrs. M. M. Kowalski, last Saturday.

Padre A. G. Reid performed the ceremony which took place in St. Barbara's Chapel, Work Point Barracks. Bride was Miss Betty Jean Keetch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Keetch of Victoria, and the groom, Martin Michael Kowalski, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kowalski of Wishart, Sask.

A waltz-length gown of net and taffeta, styled with an apron of lace and bodice featuring a sabrina neckline with short sleeves, was worn by the bride. Her veil was chapel length and she carried tea roses with white carnations.

As matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. J. Melling, wore peach silk organza over taffeta. Bridesmaids, Joy Hauser and Sharon Keetch, wore bouffant net over taffeta gowns, with bolero jackets in green and yellow. Their hats were of white feathers and they carried two-toned flower fans. Flower girls, Debbie Porter, cousin of the bride, and Debbie Bolan, wore pink net over taffeta with matching headbands of pink net and flowers. They carried baskets of mixed posies.

Best man was Cpl. Len Mark and ushers were Cpl. Gordon Johnson and Cpl. Chris Yarrow.

Reception was held in the corporals' mess, Work Point Barracks, Esquimalt. Wedding cake was made by Mrs. Jack Richardson and decorated by the bride's mother.

Following their wedding reception, Mr. and Mrs. Kowalski left for Wishart, Sask., where parents of the groom are giving a second reception in the young couple's honor.

Going away, the bride wore a blue knitted suit with a blue and white top coat and matching feather hat.

Cpl. and Mrs. Kowalski will make their home in Esquimalt.

DOUBLE ROLE FOR BROTHER:

Could my brother give me away at my wedding and at the same time be an usher? I have no one else.

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

I have never heard of such a case, but I heartily approve of it. There would be nothing awkward about your brother assuming the two roles. After he finishes his ushering duties, he can join you for the processional. An alternative could be that you be escorted to the altar by a family friend of long standing.

Love Born of Confidence, Trust

CHAPTER 8

During his tours of duty, Peter Townsend did not return home at all. Then he was given six weeks off, when he was home all the time. It was a routine not particularly conducive to married bliss. Rosemary was either a "palace widow" or a wife with a husband in constant attendance. The former meant days of boredom for Rosemary, and the latter situation was irksome to them both.

These erratic hours put a strain on the marriage. Peter, an active man, got bored when he was not on duty. Time hung on his hands. To try to solve his problem, he worked in Lloyds for an underwriter during his periods off duty. But as time went on and his relationship with the King and his family became closer, Peter was inevitably away from home more and more.

Then Rosemary complained to a friend: "Peter spends more time at his work than in his home." Slowly the marriage began to break up.

Nevertheless, Peter's posting as an Equerry of Honor to the King turned out to be just what he wanted when peace came. His strong sense of duty was now concentrated on service to the monarchy. His perfectionism and easy manner meant that his service was performed flawlessly and with no apparent effort.

Test Came With Tour

Peter's real test as an Equerry came in the spring of 1947 when the royal family left England on the battleship Vanguard to start their long South African tour. It lasted three months and covered nearly 10,000 miles. From first to last Princess Margaret saw quite a good deal of Peter Townsend. He often rode with her and her sister.

Perhaps during this tour came the beginning of an easy, quite unconscious relationship between the Princess and Townsend, a relationship based on liking, trust, shared tastes and interests, admiration.

And during the South African tour, Peter endeared himself to the King. He made himself invaluable. Perhaps his happiest moment was when the King put his hand on his shoulder and said laughingly: "I don't know what we would do without you, Peter."

Peter was at Margaret's side again when, barely 18, in September the next year, she performed her first official act abroad—representing her father at the investiture of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands. Townsend sat two pews behind her in the great new church at Amsterdam.

When, before the service began, she looked round nervously—like a child lost among so many grownups—his warm smile gave her confidence.

As has been noted, the problem of publicity is something that plagues all members of the Royal Family. Before she became betrothed to Prince Philip, the Queen was the centre of the speculative limelight. One day Elizabeth went to a working-class area to attend a function. The crowd yelled, "Where's Philip? How's Philip?" Princess Margaret found her afterward in her private suite extremely distressed. She confided to her sister: "Nothing is your own, not even your love affair."

Vow of Secrecy

Margaret made a mental vow that when she fell in love she would keep it secret until the announcement of her betrothal. And she nearly succeeded.

Margaret thought a great deal about marriage. Once when discussing the marriage of two of her friends, a marriage of opposites, she said seriously: "I suppose I had better marry someone firm to keep me in order." Was she thinking of Peter Townsend? When necessary, he could be quite firm with Margaret.

Margaret respected Peter's judgment because he knew about the big outside world. Of him she would ask: "Tell me, how is this done in the big outside world?" and Peter would tell her.

It was in these small beginnings that their friendship and affection grew. It was happy and uncomplicated. And there was their religion, or to put it more accurately, the spiritual side of their lives.

Gossip of Suitors

How did Princess Margaret manage to keep her affection for Peter Townsend secret for so long? As we have seen, she was determined to keep her true feelings from the glare of publicity. And yet she perhaps fostered some of the gossip about her alleged suitors.

But from the time she was 17, the rumors bubbled thick and fast. Some of the stories, like the raging affair supposedly launched when King Michael of Rumania lent her a theatre program, made her laugh.

Margaret's potential suitors, who, in fact, turned out to be nothing more than escorts to theatres, dinner parties, or night clubs, had to be acceptable at court. Their background, upbringing, and temperament had to be perfectly suited to fit into the cramped rhythm of court life.

A gay party-goer in her teens and early twenties, Princess Margaret was often desperately lonely afterward in Buckingham Palace. She could not have an evening alone with a young man. He must invite at least six other acceptable people. Instalment 9 of the Peter Townsend Story in The Times Wednesday.

Garbage Disposal Units Unsuitable For Septic Tanks

A warning that automatic garbage disposal units are unsuitable for septic tank areas in Saanich has been sounded by municipal engineer Neville Life today.

The units are being used by some Saanich residents. They are fitted to kitchen sinks and grind up garbage, flushing it into sewers or septic tanks with water.

Mr. Life said the extra use of water to flush the garbage through the septic tank system could result in an overflow in the disposal field.

An overflowing disposal field, he said, can cause a health problem which would have to be corrected by the householder.

250,000 Thunder Ovation
As Pope Receives Crown

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII, the humble son of an Italian farmer, was crowned 262nd Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church today in a ceremony of devout and regal splendor.

A quarter of a million persons massed on the cobble-stoned square of St. Peter's thundered an ovation of "Viva Il Papa" when the three-tiered crown of gold, silver and diamonds was placed upon his head.

The 76-year-old man who was born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli had assumed the full powers of leadership of the world's 500 million Catholics when the college of cardinals elected him as successor to Pope Pius XII.

The four-hour ceremony of crowning the new pope took place on the main balcony of St. Peter's Basilica where Nicola Cardinal Canali placed the golden tiara on his head with these words:

Golden Tiara

"Receive this tiara adorned with three crowns and know that thou art the father of princes and kings, guide of the world, vicar upon earth of Jesus Christ our Lord to whom let there be glory and honor without end."

A tremendous roar from the crowd, echoed from the seven hills of Rome as the Pope arose and bestowed upon it his blessing, standing under the red velvet and gold-rimmed canopy set up to protect him from rain or sun.

The papal mass, the spiritual heart of the ceremony, was celebrated before the papal altar. The Pope, in a sermon in Latin, stressed the heavy burdens of the pontificate and paid tribute to Pius XII.

He listed the qualities required of a good pastor and said practical abilities and diplomatic skill were not enough without Christian virtue and charity.

"The main precept of divine institution is the evangelistic precept of humility," he said. "... All of you, in all parts of the world, who are pious and fervent, pray for your pontiff."

He noted that his coronation

The mass ended and with the final blessing the processional began moving toward the balcony. Outside rain began falling and the multitude in the square opened their umbrellas, looking like a vast sea of multi-colored mushrooms, sprung up miraculously.

Thunderous applause and the waving of thousands of handkerchiefs greeted the progress of the procession down the aisle and up the long flight of marble stairs to the balcony.

Comet Rushes Films
To New York for TV

LONDON (UPI)—A Comet jet liner streaked from London to New York today in an attempt to make television history by delivering film of the papal coronation in time for transmission to U.S. audiences tonight.

The four-engine queen of the British Overseas Airways jet-powered fleet left London airport at 11:07 a.m. (3:07 a.m. PST) and was scheduled to reach New York about 2 p.m. PST.

The Comet carried film taken from television screens in Britain of the coronation ceremonies transmitted across the continent of Europe and the English Channel by Europe's co-axial cable and microwave relay "Eurovision" link.

Film showed earlier stages of the ceremonies transmitted from St. Peter's.

Meanwhile in Paris, a Boeing 707, the Comet's giant rival of Pan American in the transatlantic "battle of the jets" stood poised at Le Bourget airport to whisk film of the final ceremonies and actual coronation to New York in time for viewing later tonight.

Films covering the coronation will be shown Wednesday afternoon on Channels 6 and 2 from 5 to 5:30. It was announced today. Channel 2 will repeat the film again Wednesday night, starting at 11:30, while Channel 6 will cut into it at 11:40, picking up the final 20 minutes.

Vote
Fairly
Heavy'A Few Straws'
For Republicans

WASHINGTON (CP)—Voting was reported moderately heavy in many areas of the United States in today's election of a new Congress, state and local officers. Generally, the weather was good.

In early reports, there were a few straws to boost Republican hopes that their partisans were turning out in a fashion to trump advance Democratic claims of possible unprecedented gains.

Outstate Michigan, much of it traditionally Republican, reported heavy voting, while in Democratic Detroit balloting was running behind 1954 and 1956.

Maryland's early vote was heavier than anticipated. In the past, a big vote has usually worked to the advantage of Republicans in that heavily Democratic state.

Pre-election estimates were that 48,000,000 voters would cast ballots.

Hot fights in some states over right-to-work proposals helped draw voters to the polls.

The right-to-work proposals which require a worker to join a union to hold his job. In addition to Ohio, such proposals were on the ballot in California, Colorado, Kansas, Idaho and Washington.

In New York, the contest between Democratic Governor Averell Harriman and Republican Nelson Rockefeller for the governorship was pulling out voters in apparently record or near-record numbers.

As usual, there were a few small polling places which got ballots quickly from all their eligible voters and made their counts.

Waterville, N.H., was first. It gave 15 votes to Wesley Powell, Republican candidate for governor, and six to Bernard L. Boutin, his Democratic opponent. Two years ago, this community cast 13 votes, all Republican.

Judge Winds Up
Bribery Charge

(See Also Page 3)

VANCOUVER (CP)—The jury was given the final bribery phases in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial at 2:40 p.m. today after Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson told them that the case against former forest minister Robert Sommers "must stand on its own feet."

The judge completed his charge on seven bribery counts against Sommers in little more than a half-hour and Sommers' counsel Angelo Branca said he had no submissions to make by way of correction.

Court was adjourned until the jury reaches its verdicts or asks for further direction in the bribery stages of the case—first on 12 counts dealing with alleged donors of bribes and finally against the 47-year-old former minister on the seven counts against him as an alleged receiver.

The jury will have to bring in 57 verdicts dealing with separate transactions which the Crown has alleged amounted to giving and taking of bribes.

In his final summing up this morning, the 78th day of the trial, the judge told the jury it is no defence to say that someone else's money was used for bribery if all were involved in the same plot.

He used the example of a king in a medieval castle.

He said that if two courtiers went to the king's cup-bearer and proposed to poison the monarch by pouring a lethal liquid in his cup and the king died, the courtiers could not escape by saying it was the other fellow's poison that did the job.

He re-defined to the jury of nine men and three women his generalization of Monday that their decisions on the conspiracy phase of the case would not influence their decisions on the bribery counts.

Forest Licences
Inquiry Urged

By PETE LOUDON, Times Legislative Reporter

A detailed probe of all forest management licences issued while Robert Sommers was B.C. minister of forests was called for today by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

Speaking on the conviction of Mr. Sommers Saturday on bribery-conspiracy charges, the CCF leader also called on B.C. voters to "throw out" Attorney-General Robert Bonner "and the government which has supported him."

Mr. Strachan said:

"As a public servant, my first concern is to determine the impact of the findings of the court on the forest industry—in the industry which Mr. Sommers directed while he was minister."

"In 1956, while speaking in the legislature, CCF members, pressing for investigation, said if any wrong-doing is discovered, it will then be mandatory upon the government to make a complete review of every forest management licence and every timber contract that had passed through the minister's hands."

According to the Sloan report of 1956, about 10 forest management licences were issued between 1952 and 1955—roughly the period in which Mr. Sommers held cabinet office.

Mr. Strachan said any responsible government must be certain those in control of natural resources "receive no special favors."

"When the court case is finally finished, we must then apply ourselves to the examination the CCF has been asking for since 1956," he added.

Committee or Commission Suggested

This could be done, said Mr. Strachan, either by a special committee of the legislature, or "... a re-institution of the royal commission which was arbitrarily dismissed by Mr. Bonner a year ago."

(A royal commission under former chief justice Gordon Sloan was established to enquire into allegations and determine whether bribery or conspiracy was involved with issuance of forest management licences. It was abandoned when court action was begun.)

Storm Sweeps Northwest,
City Gets Inch of Rain

Winds with hurricane gusts of more than 100 miles an hour howled across the Pacific Northwest Monday night, barely missing Victoria and Southern Vancouver Island where gales above the 40-mile mark dumped nearly an inch of rain in six hours.

Peak of the storm was reached in Victoria between 5 and 6 p.m., making driving conditions hazardous and slowing home-bound traffic.

Heaviest gust recorded at the Gonzales Heights weather office was 46 miles per hour at 5 p.m., and by 9 p.m. the winds had hauled around to the west at an average of close to 30 miles per hour.

Greater Victoria escaped serious damage, but in Washington and Oregon the hurricane force winds left in their wake at least one dead and a trail of tumbled trees and power poles.

Gale warnings were lifted from Juan de Fuca Strait water shortly after midnight. Forecast is for a new weather disturbance, with a possibility of new gale warnings late tonight, showers Wednesday morning in this area.

Gusts up to 160 statute miles an hour were recorded Monday at the exposed Naselle, Ore., air force radar station, which receives the full impact of winds coming up the Columbia River.

The tug Alaska Queen, with a 100-foot dredge in tow, sent out a distress signal while off the Washington coast near the Columbia's mouth. Tug and tow reached sheltered waters at 8 a.m. today.

A freak accident took the life of a teenage girl as she walked in front of the student union building in Tacoma, Wash. The wind blew a tree branch across a power line and a broken wire coiled around Ann Maureen Thomas, 18, of Seattle, electrocuting her.

Highways in Oregon were blocked for a time by fallen trees.

Award for St. Laurent

MONTREAL (CP) — With quiet dignity, former prime minister Louis St. Laurent Monday night accepted the human relations award of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

"My contribution has been only a small factor in the results which have been achieved," he said when presented with the award for his contribution to the cause of better understanding among the different groups making up the population of Canada.

National unity and brotherly understanding are important in a nation, he said. The result as now seen in Canada has been due to the efforts of both the English and French-speaking leaders over a long period of time.

Among persons who forwarded messages of tribute to the former Liberal leader were CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell and Justice Minister Davie Fulton.

CONTRACT DRAFTED TO END STEEL STRIKE

TORONTO (CP) — Union and management today were drafting a contract for 8,077 workers at Hamilton's Steel Company of Canada plant, spelling an end to one of Canada's costliest strikes of the year.

Labor Minister Daley announced an agreement late Monday on the 84th day of the walkout by members of the United Steelworkers of America, CIO.

He said only that company and union officials "have agreed to prepare a memorandum of settlement" and that strikers would vote on it at a mass meeting Wednesday.

The agreement was expected to provide for a 26-cent hourly wage increase spread over a three-year contract, retroactive to Aug. 1. There was no indication of what fringe benefits might be added.

LONDON—Dusky Eartha Kitt slunk sexily on to a London stage Monday night and the Queen sent out an SOS to turn off the heat.

But the plea went to the boiler room of London's vast Coliseum Theatre—not to Eartha. Her appearance at the time apparently was purely coincidental.

In an eye-popping, skin-tight dress of flame colored chiffon, Eartha was one of 500 entertainers taking part in this year's biggest-ever royal command performance.

After the show, the Queen and Prince Philip congratulated Eartha on the performance. "He's all man," said Eartha of the prince. "A very nice man. And witty, too."

TEANECK, N.J. (UPI) — Comedienne Martha Raye, 42, and former Westport, Conn., policeman Robert O'Shea, 31, have applied for a marriage licence. This will be Miss Raye's sixth marriage.

TORONTO — A woman wearing a pair of glasses—and nothing else—boarded an east end bus Monday night, rode a dozen blocks without a word and then got off.

The startled driver told police the woman, about 35, appeared completely at ease—despite the 40-degree temperature. Police could not find her later.

SOUTH SHORE, Ky.—This town is going to borrow a jail. It's only a two-bed portable job, but Marshal Levi Blankenship says it will help ease a problem in this community of 800. It has no jail and prisoners have to be sent 17 miles.

Catlettsburg, 40 miles away, has a prefabricated cell. The seven-foot-square cell, which weighs a ton, probably will be carried by truck and set up in the fire station.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The mother of shapely 22-year-old singer Anna Maria Alberghetti said today she disapproves of her daughter's planned marriage to Buddy Bregman, and will not attend the wedding.

She objects because Bregman, 28, has been married before.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Police here arrested what they thought was a short, fat man. Headquarters scales showed Edgar Wilson, 23, of Memphis, Tenn., weighed 210 pounds. He reduced to 157 pounds in five minutes.

Under a heavy wool topcoat he wore:

Eleven pairs of trousers, 10 jackets and five shirts. Wilson explained: "They keep me warm."

Weekend Magazine to Start French Language Edition

MONTREAL (CP) — Weekend Magazine, now distributed weekly by 28 English-language newspapers, will be published in French beginning Sept. 12, 1959.

Three French-language dailies in Quebec Province—Le Nouvelliste de Trois Rivières, Le Soleil of Quebec City and La Tribune of Sherbrooke—are to distribute the magazine on that date.

Decision to publish in French was reached "just from the fact we are considered a national publication in the publishing field generally and couldn't see ourselves national without Quebec," said Craig Ballentyne, editor. "We wanted to make Weekend Magazine as completely national as we could."

Police to Hit Teen Hoodlums On Halloween

Halloween hoodlums were lashed by Esquimalt Councillor Vincent Rush at council meeting Monday night.

"It is one day in the year," he said, "when senior vandals can come out and deliberately and wantonly destroy."

"We as a council should pass a bylaw against this sort of thing, it's nothing but an excuse to let off steam."

He told of a gang of "hoodlums", aged 18 and 19 and 15 to 20 strong, who smashed municipal tiles, threw bombs, and fired home-made revolvers.

Municipal engineer John Graeme reported that 30 signs were damaged or stolen and three lights were smashed.

"We should spend more money," said Coun. G. K. Sammon, "and get special police to cope with the problem."

"I'll promise to bring this up before the police commission and the inter-municipal council," said Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

Curbs Studied on Jap Fishing

TOKYO (AP)—The International North Pacific Commission instructed one of its committees today to investigate further whether more restrictions are needed on Japanese salmon fishing.

This was decided at the first closed-door meeting of the fifth annual plenary session represented by the United States, Canada and Japan.

Delegates agreed to hand to the protocol committee for further study the issue concerning the intermingling of salmon of North American and Asian origin, one of the most delicate issues facing the conference.

The United States is reported to want to move farther westward a 175-degree west longitude boundary. Japanese cannot fish east of the boundary.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Monday: Edward G. Gillespie, 3821 Epsom, and Olive Margaret Woods, 2839 Cook, $25 each for driving without a licence. Carmen Leon Dobson, 4040 Carey, $10, and Edward Ronald Hicks, 2186 Oak Bay, $15 for driving through a red light.
In Esquimalt police court Monday: William A. Wilson, 2773 Victor, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction by failing to drive accompanied by an adult licence-holder. Ralph Hnetka, 798 Lampson, $35 for careless driving. Norman C. Woodcock, R.C.N., was fined $75 in city police court Monday on a charge of driving while his licence was under suspension. George C. Hayhoe, 939 Caledonia, $50 for driving while under suspension. Harold B. Pearson, Work Point, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

LICENCES

"Perhaps members of the legislature have been closer to details of this case than the general public and have been more aware of Mr. Bonner's incompetence and bungling," said Mr. Strachan with regard to delays in settling the Sommer's case.
"I personally moved a vote of non-confidence in the attorney-general. My opinions have not changed. But I have given up appealing to Mr. Bonner's conscience or code of ethics. He has brought politics in B.C. to a new low.
"I will not appeal any more to Mr. Bonner to resign. I simply expect the people to throw him out at the next election—and the government which has supported him."
Mr. Strachan remarked also on comment by the attorney-general that an obscure point of law exists as to whether Mr. Sommer's seat in the House is automatically vacated by his conviction.
"The ethics of the British parliamentary system make it impossible for Mr. Sommer to continue as an MLA for Rossland-Trail. If perchance there is some obscure point of law which would allow him to keep his seat, Mr. Sommer should resign."

Accipe Tiam

The golden mitre was removed from the Pope's head and Cardinal Canali began the words of the coronation: "Accipe tiam"—receive this tiara.

With the last word of the formula he placed the heavy triple crown in place.

Army regiments massed on the square presented arms in a misty rain.

There was a moment of silence. Then the great crowd burst into roars, only to subside as the Pope rose to bestow a blessing "Urbi et orbi"—to the city and the world.

At the moment of blessing, cardinals and bishops gathered on two adjoining balconies and took off their mitres. Those who could in the dense throng dropped to their knees on the wet cobblestones.

The bells of St. Peter's and the hundreds of churches of Rome pealed joyously.

Humble Ending

For all its magnificence, the four-hour ceremony ended on a humble note. The Pontiff returned alone from his triumphant appearance on the balcony to his austere apartments.

Even the flash of jewelled crowns, the rich garments of breath-taking fineness and the processions and coronation pageantry were diffused in the humble sacrifice of the mass Pope John said bare-headed at the central altar under the 300-foot dome of St. Peter's.

It was subdued further by the thrice-worded admonition by an assistant as the Pontiff dropped flax into the flames of a candle: "Sic transit gloria mundi..." (thus passes the glory of the world).

50 STRICKEN IN BIG CRUSH AT VATICAN

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Fifty persons were taken ill in the crush of Romans and tourists who packed St. Peter's Square today to watch the coronation of Pope John XXIII.
Doctors who treated many of them at first aid posts on either side of the vast square said most were suffering from lack of food—they had fasted in order to take holy communion at the end of the coronation ceremonies—or from exhaustion.

POPE

There the big gold-and-jewel-encrusted throne was waiting for the pontiff. Priests and nuns had filled the roof of the Loggia Dei Dame on the right-hand colonnade outside.

The cardinals accompanied the Pope to the door of the Basilica and then went to the apostolic palace by elevator. Diplomats and special representatives also went by elevator to the loggia of the dame and the loggia of Charlemagne to watch the coronation. Representing Canada was Jules Leger, ambassador to NATO, and ambassador to Italy Leon Mayrand.

The pope appeared himself on the central balcony at 12.53 p.m. to a massive surge of applause and the first shouts of "Viva il Papa!"

250,000 Cheer

The Pope took his place on the elevated throne, looking down on more than a quarter of a million cheering, shouting persons waving handkerchiefs and flags telling where they were from.

Three noble guards flanked the throne.

The ceremonial ostrich plume fans used throughout the ceremony inside the Basilica also appeared, held aloft, one on each side of the throne. They symbolically represent cherubs.

The pope sat perfectly motionless, his hands crossed on his chest.

No move was made except for the singing of the choir—"A Golden Crown Is Placed Upon His Head"—until one minute before 1 p.m., when Cardinal Canali advanced with the crown.

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant intoned the "Our Father," and continued with other special prayers, his French accent showing through the age-old church Latin.

GRAND RESPONSE TO GRAND OPERA

Ovation for La Boheme

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON

It is a long time since the sculpture around the Royal Theatre was shaken by such a storm of applause and shouted compliments as followed the final curtain on "La Boheme" Monday night.

Also it is a long time since such a demonstration was so fully justified.

The New York Opera Festival production may, in certain minor details, suffer from typical road company deficiencies, but in every important aspect it is of excellent calibre.

Vocally it could be said to be star-studded if "star" is taken to mean top in quality and skill and not merely a name that has been bandied about by press agents.

LA SCALA QUALITY

In Rudolph Petrak, the company has a leading tenor of La Scala proportions. A resonant, full-bodied bel canto tone that is uniform in production and without a weakness throughout its range. Possibly he tends to "let go" a modicum overmuch, but on the other hand he possesses a mezzo voice that is quite exquisite—something which the Lanza-type of singer has little use for.

COMING: WALT DISNEY'S WHITE WILDERNESS

Petrak is a quite convincing actor and genuine feeling colors the golden tone of his voice. The hauntingly lovely "Che Gelida Manina" was sung with a more moving tenderness than some of the currently great names among tenors can manage to inject into it.

PETITE MIMI

Josephine Guido was a small, dark Mimi with plenty of warm, soprano tone. This was a lovely voice also, perfectly controlled, brilliantly flexible, sympathetic.

A powerful instrument, Miss Guido used it with discernment and a full appreciation for the many subtleties and delicacies of the role.
